HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS WILL RAISE $2000 FOR TRACK FUND

Rally in High School Assembly Hall This Morning—
Proposed Cinder Path at Alumni Field Will Cost $3000—Alumni Association Will Contribute $1000

Twenty-one hundred and 48 boys and girls, filling Lowell high school assembly hall at 8:15 o'clock this morning, were aroused to a pitch of intense enthusiasm when they were asked to take part in a special "Pupils' Drive" to raise the sum of $2000 as a contribution toward a three-thousand dollar fund for the purpose of building a cinder track at Alumni field.

Headmaster Henry H. Harris presided at the rally, which was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of its kind ever held in the assembly hall. Nearly every high school pupil of both sexes was there, eager to participate in the campaign and showing their exuberance repeatedly when the question at hand was discussed and pupils asked for earnest support.

TRUNK SEWER TO SEA PROJECT IS RECOMMENDED TO LEGISLATURE

Would Cost $10,000,000 for Construction and $173,500 Annually for Maintenance, is Estimate—Assessment Plan Recommended to Care for Cost

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, April 11.—Construction of a trunk sewer, from a point just below the confluence of the Concord and Merrimack rivers in Lowell, to a point in the ocean off Plum Island, is recommended by the state department, in a report submitted to the legislature today, as the best means for improving the sanitary condition of the Merrimack river.

The cost of the project outlined by the department is estimated at $10,000,000 for construction, with an annual outlay of $173,500 for maintenance. The department states that separate sewer disposal works in certain of the cities and towns in the Merrimack valley adequate to handle all of the sewage, might be constructed for $8,370,000, but those would entail an annual maintenance charge of $360,000, which would probably be increased if proper reserves were laid aside for renewals or obsolescence.

Spinning Room Employee Stricken at Work With Apoplexy of the Brain

Medical Examiner Pronounces Lakeview Man's Death Due to Natural Causes

Louis Lescarbeau of Lakeview, 50 years old, dropped dead of apoplexy of the brain while at work in the spinning room of the Booth mill at about 10 o'clock this morning. Dr. Marshall J. Alling, state medical examiner, viewed the body and after pronouncing death due to natural causes ordered the removal of the body to Tremblay's undertaking rooms.

Lescarbeau, who is single, and formerly lived at 20 Ray street, had complained to fellow employees earlier in the morning that his heart was bothering him. Detective Capt. Petrie learned in his investigation of the death. Lescarbeau had worked at the Booth mill for some time.

OPPORTUNITY FOR MAN WITH $500 AND BIG HEART

Anybody with five hundred spare dollars and a desire to spread cheer among some of the forlorn in the world has a fine opportunity awaiting them at the city isolation hospital.

Just a few more than fifty patients are up there fighting the great white plague. The days to them are long and listless, the nights longer and the terrible fumes. Dr. Foster H. Smith, the superintendent, has found that a radio set with headphones for each bed could be installed for the amount mentioned.

Many similar institutions are already so equipped, the funds being supplied privately in some cases, publicly in others. Dr. Smith included a $500 estimate to care for this when he submitted his budget but the item was eliminated under the entrenchment program of the city administration.

BOMBING RAIDS IN TEGUCIGALPA

Air Pilots of Honduran Revolutionary Forces Drop Bombs, Killing Many

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Air pilots of Honduran revolutionary forces have begun bombing raids in Tegucigalpa, the capital, and have killed a number of women and children.

Four bombs were dropped near the grounds where members of the American landing force from the cruiser Milwaukee, at Amapala, were exercising, but dispatches to the navy department today from Rear Admiral Dayton made no mention of any casualties among the American naval force.

Commander Cawsey, in charge of the detachment of American sailors at Tegucigalpa, was instructed by Admiral Dayton to make vigorous protest to the de facto government and revolutionary leaders against continued bombing of the city, as endangering American lives.

A report in the navy department said the aim was to bomb the jail at Tegucigalpa, but that the missiles landed on residences.

Brother of Mavrakis Tells Story of Cafe Fight and Stabbing

While Theodore Panzes, aged 33, this afternoon was sitting in his cell in the Tombs prison, New York city, awaiting trial on a charge of manslaughter, the body of James Mavrakis, 23, formerly of 55 Common street, Lowell, was consigned to its final resting place in the Edison cemetery—the aftermath of a stabbing affray in a metropolitan cafe last Monday evening.

Details of the vicious assault on the former Lowell youth were vividly described this morning by George Mavrakis, a brother of the victim, who accompanied the dead body to this city before the sun rose this morning.

NEW TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Six Patrolmen Made Permanent Traffic Officers by Police Supt. Atkinson

Thomas R. Atkinson, superintendent of police, announced today that six names of the following six patrolmen will be added to the list of permanent traffic officers next Monday, and will assume their new duties on that day:

T. Harry Maroney, James P. Morrisson, Edward F. Liston, Paul M. Spillane, William F. McBride, John T. Sayes.

These additional traffic guardians are needed, explained the superintendent, in view of the contemplated increase in vehicular traffic during the coming season, and also in view of the fact that the recently devised traffic regulations will become effective on Monday next also.

Simultaneous with the appointment of the new traffic officials, Sgt. Atkinson announced that new permanent traffic posts will be established at Bridge and First streets, Merrimack and Dutton streets, Church and Central streets, and Thordike and Appleton streets. At these intersections, traffic officers will be stationed after the manner of those at the posts operating today.

Another change in local traffic rules becomes effective tomorrow when automobile owners will be prohibited from parking their machines "endwise" in Central street in the vicinity of Tower's corner in Market street as far as the Lowell Electric Light Corp. between Merrimack and Palace streets, and in Bridge street, between John and Brookings streets.

This radical change will make it imperative that all machine owners or chauffeurs park their machines along corresponding lines with the curbstone of the sidewalk. In so doing, the superintendent believes that much unnecessary congestion will be eliminated, and that the main roadway will be kept open more conveniently.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL PURCHASES OLD LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Building to Be Renovated and Used as Summer Church for Lake Mascuppig Campers—Theatre Was Erected in 1893—Sale by Harry C. Kittredge

The old Lakeview theatre, familiar to hundreds of Lowell pleasure-seekers and situated on the prominence to the south of the Lowell-Nashua car line overlooking beautiful Lake Mascuppig, has been sold to Cardinal O'Connell in the interests of the Catholic archdiocese of Boston, by Harry C. Kittredge, well-known proprietor of various establishments at the famous summer resort.

Rev. Michael C. Gilbride, pastor of St. Mary's church in Collinsville, has been designated to take charge of the newly acquired property, and stated this morning that the building will undergo extensive alterations and will be used as a summer church for campers in the vicinity of Lake Mascuppig. For the past three years, Sunday services have been conducted in the theatre under the auspices of the Collinsville church.

SPECULATE AS TO THE ULTIMATE EFFECT OF HUGO STINNES' DEATH

German Industrial Leader Who Passed Away Yesterday Was Expected to Be Factor in Reparations Settlement—Owned Nearly Whole Country

BERLIN, April 11.—(By the Associated Press) Germany's "strong man" of industry is gone with the passing yesterday of Hugo Stinnes, and speculation is rife today as to the ultimate effect of his death on the internal situation and on the reparation settlement.

Weakened by the effects of three major operations within four weeks, the man who would admit of no defeat in the marts of trade, bowed to the ravages of disease. He was fully conscious to the end and during the day conversed constantly with the members of his family gathered at the bedside.

It was characteristic of him that even in the final hours he asked for the details of the Dawes report of the reparations problem, and expressed gratification at recognizing what he professed were some of his own ideas among the recommendations made by the experts.

SLAYER ELECTROCUTED BAKER BEFORE LEGION

Vandante Had Twice Attempted to End Own
Life While in Sing Sing

OSSENING, N. Y., April 11.—Having twice attempted to end his own life and after threatening the life of Father William Cashin, the prison chaplain, Anthony Vandante, condemned wife slayer, was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last night.

An unusually large number of guards surrounded the condemned man as he was led to the chair, as it was feared he might attempt some further violence. He walked peacefully from the death cell, however, and made no demonstration when strapped to the chair. Vandante was convicted of killing his wife in Manhattan, N. Y., a year and a half ago, after he had accused her of unfaithfulness.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED AT DOVER ARRAIGNED

DOVER, N. H., April 11.—A large but orderly crowd waited outside the courthouse here today as a hearing was begun in the cases of the four men arrested Wednesday night charged with disturbance connected with the strike of Pacific mills employees.

Bert Embley, of Lawrence, Mass., an organizer of the One Day Union, Fred E. Best of Lawrence, and Charles P. S. and James Hughes of Dover were arrested when the police dispersed a crowd before the house of Mill Agent H. A. Newton. Popular demonstrations became so threatening that extra police, armed with sidearms and machine guns were summoned yesterday from Nashua and Haverhill.

These and the local police were on duty today inside and outside the courthouse, but they found little to do and neither the side arms nor machine guns were displayed. About 20 witnesses were to be heard.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWERS

Miss Eleanor Pope of Lamb street was last evening, tendered a pretty miscellaneous shower by her friends at the home of Mrs. Richard Foley in Woodward avenue. Miss Pope opened her many gifts beneath a hall of roses while the room was prettily decorated in blue and white. A comedy sketch, entitled "The Bride and Groom," was given by Miss Margaret Swift and Miss Maude Gagnon, bride and bridegroom, respectively. Mrs. Archie Wildt and Mrs. Richard Foley entertained with specialty numbers, while Miss Rita Handley gave a solo dancing fantasy. A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Foley, assisted by Mrs. Handley. Following the luncheon the guests departed, wishing Miss Pope, who is to become the bride of Mr. Christopher Place on Easter Monday, much success in coming years.

Her Neighbor's Advice Helped Mrs. Frick

MRS. ADA FRICK
PERRYSBURG, OHIO

"YOU can be just as healthy, strong and happy as I am," said one woman to her neighbor after listening to the description of her ailments,—"if you will take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My condition was very similar to yours, I suffered from those awful bearing down pains, weakness, backache, nervousness and headaches until I could hardly drag around. Today I am strong, well and happy because I followed the advice of a friend who had been greatly benefited by this old-fashioned root and herb medicine."

Nearly fifty years ago Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. prepared from medicinal roots and herbs Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Its fame has spread from shore to shore. You will now find in every community or neighborhood some woman who has been restored to health by its use, or has some friend who has. Therefore ask your neighbor.

Thousands of unsolicited testimonials such as the following are on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., and prove the merit of this medicine. Therefore no woman should continue to suffer from such ailments.

Mrs. Frick Tells of Her Experience

PERRYSBURG, OHIO—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a neighbor and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles and she took the Vegetable Compound and it helped her. So then I went and got some and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see a woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ADA FRICK, R. PROBERS VISIT CITY HOSPITAL

Isolation Institution Superintendent on Witness Stand for Two Full Hours

Proud of Low Per Capita Cost—Has Sympathy for Discontented Patients

The city council committee investigating the isolation hospital visited that institution yesterday afternoon. Dr. Foster A. Smith, superintendent, was subjected to two hours of questioning under oath concerning affidavits alleging misconduct of the institution and the committee made a trip of inspection through the place. The hearing got underway at about 3 o'clock with Councilor Daly in the chair. Others present in the official capacity were Councilors Fitzgerald, Christen, McPadden and Stearns, with J. J. Hennessy as counsel.

Dr. Smith was asked to make statements concerning Peter Swan, Fred Welch, Frank McCluskey, George Campbell, and John J. Lyons who made affidavits complaining of the treatment accorded them there and also regarding Miss Helene Hooper, a nurse, another complainant. Dr. Smith characterized most of the men as malcontents, said he had always and still has the greatest sympathy for them because their continued ill health has made them chronic kickers and agitators, and further said that he thought the feelings of bitterness prompting them were caused mostly by the moroseness common in cases of long confinement because of a wasting illness.

Thinks Nurse to be Discharged

Miss Hooper, he said, is an incompetent nurse secured in time of need through an agency. He further added that he had some time ago recommended to the board of health, which has sole power of discharge, that her services be dispensed with.

Pressed for a reason why she had not been discharged, the superintendent intimated that the board, as he understands it, did not desire to discharge her while the investigation is underway as it might be construed as an attempt to spirit her away and hamper or hinder the investigation. He admitted frankly that he believes the board of health will concur in his recommendation and discharge her once the investigation is completed.

Asked as to the quality of eggs given inmates, the superintendent stated it has been the general policy to buy strictly fresh eggs from nearby henneries, paying always the top market price. In regard to liquor at the institution, the doctor said he has liquor on hand secured free of charge, except for payment of the tax, from federal authorities. Every teaspoonful is accounted for, he added. At the close of the investigation the councilors inspected the office records and the manner of keeping them, finding the office to be conducted under a modern system.

Taking up the individual affidavits of complaining inmates, Dr. Smith explained the case of each man as he was named by Chairman Daly.

One Complainant Would Retract

Councilor McPadden and Councilor Stearns joined in the questioning, at times, the former regarding sanitation and the duties of orderlies at the institution and the latter most particularly with reference to Miss Hooper and to the per capita cost of conducting the place as compared with other institutions of a similar size and scope.

Regarding the affidavit of Frank McCluskey, the superintendent said that McCluskey had since expressed a desire to retract his statements, saying they were made in moment of excitement when he was approached by others who asked him to join in complaints. Mr. Daly asked who scoured the retraction and Dr. Smith said that while he is not certain what member of the board of health was approached by McCluskey he is quite certain the information was volunteered to Fisher Pearson by the patient.

Asked if he had enough nurses at the hospital, the superintendent said that in the interests of efficiency two more should be added. He explained that the use of a contagious ward in addition to the tuberculosis wards made more nurses almost imperative when there are contagious cases on hand in any great number.

His 24-Hour Job

Asked as to his duty hours, the superintendent said his is a 24-hour job and that he is at the hospital every night and within call throughout the day. On Saturday nights it is his custom to have dinner at the Highland club, he added. When he is absent from the hospital his wife, a trained graduate nurse, is in charge. If both should be away a head nurse is designated as in charge.

In such cases he is always within call, he said, else he notifies the board of health and a doctor is assigned to the institution by them during his temporary absence. This happens seldom except during his annual vacation period, he added.

Speaking of the per capita cost of conducting the institution, the doctor said he is proud of the fact that it is so low. He said that in comparison the cost has been quoted as higher than other cities, but explained that he figures the per capita cost on gross expenditures while Lawrence figures on net expenditures.

Figuring on the same basis between the two, his institution makes a much better showing than Lawrence, he maintained, and is in fact so far ahead of the municipal hospital that it is comparable with the best of county hospitals throughout the state. Figures meant to prove his contention were admitted to the record. Many other cities with which the local hospital was compared have just contagious ward, an expensive adjunct, he said, but are admitting only tuberculosis cases.

Doctor Over 20 Years

Asked how long he had been a physician, the doctor replied he commenced practice in this state over twenty-three years ago and has served on the staffs of the City and Corporation hospitals here for a great part of his professional career.

Asked if Mayor Donovan had ever called him into consultation regarding the cost of maintenance at the hospital, the superintendent replied in the negative. He said he had talked with the mayor and his secretary, Mr. Glusheen, relative to last year's budget, and it was necessary to go back later for more money, he added. That was his only talk with the mayor regarding the financial conduct of the place, he said. Asked if he thought the hospital could continue to function, and do so properly, on a smaller appropriation, he replied in the negative.

Dr. Smith was excused from further testimony. Mrs. Smith, who was ready for call, was informed she would not be needed. The inspection tour of the building then started and the committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

Has Your Husband Got Indigestion?

Nothing creates domestic discord quicker than an attack of indigestion, and nothing gets rid of indigestion quicker than Blaud's Magnesia. No man can be so contented, good natured or even fair minded when his stomach is constantly sick, sour, gassy, and upset with after-eating distress. If your husband has stomach trouble neither could nor pity him, but help him by seeing that he has a supply of Blaud's Magnesia (either powder or tablets) constantly on hand. A teaspoonful of powder or two tablets taken in a little water after meals will instantly neutralize the acids in his stomach that are causing his trouble and he can enjoy his meals with no more fear of indigestion. Blaud's Magnesia is the special form of Magnesia used by thousands to neutralize stomach acidity and quickly overcome indigestion—do not confuse with Milk Carbonate, Black or Chloride of Magnesia. Instantly Blaud's. Its action is safe, prompt and sure and it can be obtained at small cost from any reliable drug store.—Adv.

THE STRAND
There are a number of outstanding features in "The Unknown Purple," now playing at The Strand. One of them is the remarkable manner in which the ray of purple light about which much of the mystery and thrills of the story revolves has been handled. This ray of light is the discovery of an inventive genius and the possession of it has the power to make himself invisible to the human eye. The story concerns the justified revenge by a man whose wife betrayed him, and who with the power to make himself invisible, comes back from prison, to which he was unjustly sentenced, to pay back his debt of revenge.

Herbert Rawlinson is most entertaining as an First Side policeman. "Jack O' Clubs" and the comedy and Weekly are also good.

EGG YOLKS
Egg yolks may be covered with water and kept for several days without drying or becoming unfit for use. It is well to change the water daily, however.

Hugo Stinnes Dead

over the industrial group which wields such important influence in the determination of any German reparations policy. Interest centers in the policy to be followed with regard to his manifold business interests, the main details of which were always a matter of personal concern with him, and which he continued to supervise until the last.

The administration of these interests will devolve on his sons, Edmund and Hugo, Jr., both of whom have been in close touch with their father's enterprises during the last five years. Edmund, the elder of the two, is resident business director of the Stinnes offices in Berlin, while Hugo, Jr., has had charge of his father's shipping interests in Hamburg.

BOASTED HE NEVER SAW EX-KAISER

Hugo Stinnes was spoken of in continental Europe as the German who owned everything in sight, and from the peculiar pleasure he found in confiding the size of his fortune to all who would listen, the details of his vast industrial enterprises, and the extent of his mining, shipping and newspaper holdings were never left very much in doubt.

In addition to owning outright a score or more of the largest hotels in Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen, Stinnes shared control of the iron and coal industry of Germany with his friend, August Thyssen, and a few others, and occupied a dominating position in the entire inland navigation of that country. He also directed several big ocean shipping concerns, owned most of the potash deposits of Central Europe, and in 1920 was reported to have bought 50 newspapers, as well as several paper mills and pulp factories.

Before the war Stinnes' fortune was estimated at 30,000,000 marks, which, according to competent calculations, increased during the war and the revolution to more than 1,000,000,000 marks.

Although Stinnes proved himself to be perhaps the greatest industrial organizer Germany ever produced, he was never graduated, so to speak, from the working class. He had the appearance and bearing of a worker, and could go about in the clothes of a foreman or a miner without attracting attention. He was once described as like a piece of coal wandering about among his own coal mines.

His external appearance was devoid of pose, and he seemed heavy and solid. His massive head was set upon a stocky trunk. His black hair was cropped close, his face was pale and expansive, his nose was decidedly hooked, his eyes heavily underlined, and his beard as black as coal. A German newspaper became popular over night by calling him the "Assyrian King."

Had Passion for Toys

Novelties and toys were passion with Stinnes. He would be captivated in the street by the sight of a pedler's pack, and if he discovered a new kind of fountain pen or safety razor among the man's wares his excitement was almost boundless.

Stinnes was a man of few words, except when asked to discuss his financial affairs, and then he was verbose to a degree that tried the patience of his auditors.

He once stated to a French interviewer that he was the "richest man in the world"; that he owned all Germany, and expected in time to possess Austria and perhaps Hungary. "They can't get along without me," he remarked with tragic gravity, then added reflectively, "neither can England."

He delighted in producing a huge bank roll, inviting inspection of its size, then restoring it to his pocket with the proud revelation: "All mine." When he passed a newspaper office he would remark that it was all his.

Proud of His Fortune

A genial character, Stinnes displayed irascibility only when the size of his fortune was disputed. He had one clinching argument. He would take doubters to one of his hotels and feast them royally.

"Eat what you like," he would say. "The place is all mine."

The magnate himself took no delight in food, and no ear for music; never read books, saw nothing interesting in nature and seldom was seen

I have been asked, oh, so many times, how I do the volume of business. The answer is simple. I have, what I believe, the largest stock of woollens of any tailoring store in New England. I am a jobber as well as a retailer, selling the small tailor plus 10 per cent mill discount. I own my merchandise at the low market. I operate my own workshops. I have plain fixtures. No dovetailed floorwalkers. I have tremendous spot cash buying power. I do a strictly cash business—no credit losses for you to share. I sell from weaver to wearer. I am a wholesale tailor—not an agent—and the greatest asset of all—I own my own building, and no gouging landlord can tell me the price I must pay for a given street floor space, and I am proud to say I have over 12,000 satisfied customers on my books.

"My business," he would say, "so entirely occupies my mind that there is no room for anything else."

He owned his first evening suit in 1917 and was persuaded to buy it by Albert Ballin, creator of the Hamburg-American line. Before that he always appeared at dinners and banquets in what he termed his working clothes. He was seldom asked to speak in public, for he invariably drifted into a trade against the aristocracy, which he hated with all the fire of his complex nature.

started with nothing and amassed fortunes.

"Look at those high-brows," he would say. "What did they ever do for Germany? They lost the war for us, yet see the airs they give themselves. I could buy them all up and never miss the money."

Yet Stinnes himself did not start with nothing. He belonged to an eminent Jewish family long in commerce, and received substantial aid from his father after completing his studies in a technical school. He was born Feb. 12, 1870, and from earliest boyhood was trained in the principles of commerce and trade.

When the World war broke over Europe, Stinnes was transacting some business in Russia. He read Austria's ultimatum to Serbia and instantly recognized it as war. He hurried to his Muehlheim home, spent 14 hours in the telephone cell of his private apartment, and when he emerged, all his enterprises were on a war basis.

Politically, Stinnes was an idol of the German People's party, formerly the National Liberals, which he was said to have financed after the revolution. During the inter-allied discussion on the German indemnity at Spa in the summer of 1920, Stinnes' defeat stand as a National Liberal was blamed for the failure to come to immediate terms. It was at this conference, when taken to task for his arrogant attitude, that he electrified the assembly with the statement:

"Didn't Come to Be Polite"

"I have not come here for the purpose of being polite."

In the years that followed, however, he became more pacific and urged the German people to adopt a policy of work and production, which he declared was the only salvation for the war-torn nation.

The most human side of Stinnes seemed to be domestic. He would spend hours in the company of his children, fashioning new toys for them and mending old ones, or searching the stores of Muehlheim for novelties. When residing in Berlin, Stinnes and his little girl would go in the afternoon to the Zoo, and there the calculating magnate would temper his voice with a note of sadness and tell over and over again about the poor lion that had to be killed during the war because food was so scarce.

The industrial prince of Germany cared nothing for luxury, and had no personal extravagance. He owned several motor cars, but usually walked or rode in a trolley car. He was often seen running through the streets of Berlin like a schoolboy, but no one more than glanced at him, for all knew Stinnes and his eccentricities.

If his presence were required at one of the mines, he might be seen plodding along the street with a group of blackened miners, or else clinging to a strap in a street car surrounded by his workers, who treated him as one of their number.

Hugo Stinnes had two favorite haunts. One was that he could buy anyone in Central Europe "without making the money," and the other that he never had seen the former German emperor, and wouldn't have turned his head to look at him on the street.

FOR 30 SPEED BOATS

Program for Expansion of Coast Guard to Fight Runners Started

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The administration program for expansion of the coast guard to fight run runners was started on its way today with the opening of bids for construction of 30 speed boats, the first of a flotilla of several hundred craft to be added under the recent appropriation of $14,000,000. Officials believe the new craft will cost around $7000 each.

The next step after contracting for the speed boats, will be the receiving of bids for 175 cutters. Designs for the speed boats call for trial speeds of about 42 knots or an ability to overhaul any run runner craft with which the guard has come in contact thus far in its chase of run smugglers.

In addition to the $14,000,000 which will be used for the speed boats and cutters and for additional personnel, the recent appropriation provides that the guard will receive 20 destroyers and two mine sweepers from the navy.

KING AND QUEEN OF RUMANIA HONORED

PARIS, April 11.—(By the Associated Press) There is an inclination in diplomatic circles to interpret the toast proposed by President Millerand at the dinner given King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania last evening as indicating that there is an important political phase to the visit of the Rumanian sovereigns. The president, after recalling the intimate relations of the two countries, said:

"Also I am certain to respond to the desires of our countries in expressing the wish that the relations, so ancient and so close that unites them be more and more strengthened."

President Millerand and King Ferdinand both referred to the guarantee pact signed with the allies in harmony with the ideas of the League of Nations.

ATTEMPT TO BURN SCHOOL

BROCKTON, April 11.—Police and fire officials are today investigating an attempt to set a fire in the Ellis Brett school, Thursday evening. Neighbors declare they saw boys in the rear of the school building. When the firemen arrived they found kerosene and paper.

BARTHOU CONFERS WITH PREMIER POINCARE

PARIS, April 11.—Louis Barthou, president of the reparations commission, was received by Premier Poincare this morning.

"Exchange Soviet" is what the Paris Midi dubs the transfer council of five proposed by Brigadier General

Dawes and his fellow reparations experts. It declares the scheme is very interesting but also very disquieting because the president of the council "will be absolute dictator of European exchanges, endowed with power to grant or refuse the means of credits to all the states creditors of Germany."

"Assisted by his council," the paper adds, "he will play a role analogous to the League of Nations' representative, Dr. Zimmermann, in respect to Austria."

EX-GOV. WALTON CASE

Arguments on One of Bitterest Fights in History of American Jurisprudence

WASHINGTON, April 11.—One of the bitterest fights in the history of American jurisprudence was brought into the supreme court today when it reached for argument the appeal of former Governor John C. Walton of Oklahoma to set aside his impeachment by the Oklahoma legislature. The federal district court for western Oklahoma had refused to review the impeachment proceedings.

The appeal of the former governor was based upon the ground that he had not been given a fair trial in the impeachment proceedings. He declared that the Ku Klux Klan and other influences dominated the Oklahoma house in his impeachment, and the senate of that state in his trial.

The lower federal courts refused to take jurisdiction in the matter on the grounds broadly that the questions involved were political and not judicial.

THIRTY LEARNED IN MOTHERCRAFT

Are Graduated From Twelve
Weeks' Course Given by
Women's Club Workers

Mrs. Nathan Pulsifer and
Miss Harriet Cooper
Speak at Meeting

Thirty young women were yesterday afternoon awarded certificates after following a twelve weeks' course in Mothercraft, sponsored by the Mothercraft and Child Welfare committee of the Middlesex Women's club, Mrs. David Dewar, chairman.

The graduation was held in Middlesex hall, the auditorium being filled to capacity by parents and friends of the young girls. The classes, which were held in the Middlesex club-rooms and the International Institute rooms, were taught by Miss Blanche Harriman, Mrs. Edward Sheridan and Miss Mary A. Rordan.

The program opened with a short story told by Miss Cooper, treating of the necessity of proper care and treatment not only of babies but of all beings.

Mrs. Pulsifer, speaker, Mrs. Nathan Pulsifer, who talked on "American Ideals," emphasized the advantages offered by our country in its schools, its public institutions and its special branch classes. Mrs. Pulsifer congratulated the young ladies for their persistency in attending the classes, which were held in the evening, and wished them success in all work undertaken in consequence of the course followed.

Miss Hannah Norberg read her essay on the "Care of Baby." It proving a clear and interesting article on the proper care and nourishment of the child in its infancy and the proper vigilance for its welfare in growing years.

The program in full follows:

Smith, Helen Sumner, Helen M. Russell, Hannah Norberg, Gwendolyn Cash, Marion Morse, Fanny Sargent, Catherine Sniadon, Phyllis Pelecas, Mary Lampow, Karelina Lampow, Georgia Lampow, Despina Tassa, Pota Coronis, Mary Loukas, Helen Vrettas, Demiteula Zis, Helen Zoupe and Alexandria Vanolis.

At the close of the exercises refreshments were served by the hospitality committee composed of seven of the young lady graduates.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

D. F. KEITH'S

Some of the largest audiences ever successfully recorded at the R. F. Keith theatre have been noted during the present week. The Midget Review is the most unusual collection of little folk ever shown on one bill. It is a remarkable presentation, and it is a remarkably labeled "Alice in Toyland."

The surrounding bill is excellent, consisting of Ingalls & Winchester, Jack Adams and Thompson Sisters, Masters & Grady and H. E. Beatz. The picture is "The Ladder Jinx."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The stock players give but three more performances of "Her Unborn Child," the attraction being staged by Langdon B. Rarhydt, this week. The seat sale has been pleasing although a few good seats are still open for reservation and may be held by phoning 7-2727.

Charles McDonald, Miss Shirlee Deale, Joseph Flynn, Miss Vessie Farrell, Miss Gladys Robinson, Miss Gladys Fernandez and Bertram Perry, all contribute well to the success of the show, which promises a great lesson thought, especially apropos for the Lenten season.

RIALTO THEATRE

When it comes to speed, merriment and romance, the William Fox special, "Six Cylinder Love," now showing at the Rialto theatre, breaks every record. Cap'd is perched on the radiator, lumps of clattering iron hon around the steering wheel. Ernest Truax, who created the role in the original stage production, that of the poor little husband, is seen in the same part, and he's a riot. Briefly, "Six Cylinder Love" tells about the story of a pair of newlyweds, who buy a second hand car and with it inherit a crowd of "Spongers," who are nothing more than parasites. Wherever the machine goes they follow. "Six Cylinder Love" is a picture that will entertain all classes of people, because it concerns everyone who is an automobile owner, and that's about all of us.

"The Tents of Allah," with Monte Blue and Mary Alden, are the companion attractions.

Only a few more opportunities remain for Lowell people to see glorious Glork Swanson in "A Society Scandal," which will close its week's engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow evening. "A Society Scandal" was adapted from Alfred Sutro's "The Laughing Lady," in which Ethel Barrymore has been starring on the stage, but the story has been greatly changed. The locale has been altered from London to New York and Long Island and the action and characters have been jazzed up to date until this is by far the liveliest, most thoroughly modern and de luxe production in which Miss Swanson has ever appeared.

There is an exceptionally attractive surrounding program, including a Will Rogers comedy, another comedy feature, the latest International News and the Boston Post prize reel, "Your Hat and Mine."

SOPHIE DRASLAN

Allen McQuhae, Irish tenor, who will sing in the Memorial Auditorium Easter Sunday night in a joint recital with Sophie Draslan, Metropolitan contralto, was until quite recently Lieut. McQuhae of the A.E.F. Nevertheless, he still has a warm spot in his heart for Ireland and all things Irish, and his program will include numerous Irish numbers. Seats will go on sale tomorrow in Chalifoux's victrola department.

HANDY UMBRELLA

An efficient umbrella not only provides shelter from rain or sun, but has a commodious handle which is also a vanity case with mirror, rouge, eye-brow pencil and the customary accessories of pulchritude.

WE ARE NOT COMPLAINING

Unlike other business men of Lowell, we are not complaining that business is quiet, for during the short time that we have been listed as ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS, our progress has been in leaps and bounds, to such an extent, that in order to keep up with the breast of times, we are forced to occupy larger quarters.

Need for Modern Switchboard
Installations in Public
Buildings is Seen

City Hall and Court House
Both Without "Crossroads
of Conversation"

One instance where Lowell has failed to keep abreast of the times is in the matter of private branch exchanges, or telephone switchboards. City hall, where one board with a male operator could handle the whole building efficiently, has 21 separate phones, all with a different number. The installation of a switchboard there with several trunk lines and just one number to remember would be of great benefit to the thousands having occasion to use them.

The water works has eight separate phones with different numbers, the school department has 26. In these modern times a switchboard is a real necessity. At city hall a switchboard could be installed in the city messengers' office to handle the various phones there. It might be feasible to install another in the office of the superintendent of schools and perhaps a third at the pumping station although the advisability of this last named is perhaps more open to debate.

The old speaking tube system in the city messengers' office is proof positive that back in the days when the building was built there was need for a "crossroads of conversation." The need, many believe, is much greater today.

The Gorham street courthouse comes in the same category. Rental is paid on some lines that are used probably less than 15 days in a whole year yet there is no switchboard. You have to call different numbers to get the office of the registrar, the county treasurer or the district attorney.

In this matter the city fathers and county commissioners have not kept stride with the industrial plants of the city. Hardly a mill that has not a switchboard. A newspaper could not hardly get along without one.

Attempted Jail Delivery Frustrated—Tunnel Under Yard Discovered

ANNUAL GYM EXERCISES
AT Y. W. C. A.

Solo numbers, group dances, and various characteristic interpretations marked the annual gymnasium exercises given by the adult, junior, senior and intermediate classes of the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium school in the Y.W.C.A. gym last evening before a capacity audience.

The participants, dressed in the native costumes of the countries represented in the various dances, made colorful sketches as they gracefully executed their numbers.

The Kerry dance, in which the participants wore Kelly green and white costumes, won unlimited applause from the large audience.

The Fair dance, by the junior members, was artistically given, the youngsters excellently interpreting their parts.

The drill, given by the Intermediate and the apparatus exhibition in which all classes participated, gave the pupils ample field in which to display their ability as agile, competent performers.

Miss Rita Sawyer and Miss Dorothy Ritchie accompanied the classes on the piano in the execution of the various numbers. Miss Mildred MacIntyre, director of the gymnasium school, had charge of last evening's exhibition.

NEW $5,000,000 HOTEL

To Replace Famous Brighton Beach Hotel, Which Was Built in 1878

NEW YORK, April 11—The Brighton Beach hotel, famous haunt of leading sport men of a past generation, is to be replaced by a new $5,000,000 hotel and convention hall, according to plans made public today. The project is in the hands of the Brooklyn Realty association. The hotel was built in 1878. It enjoyed its greatest reputation when racing was at its height at Brighton Beach and great crowds were attracted to its promenade and dining-rooms.

Will Raise Money for

were asked to perform a highly important part in paying the bills for the new club path.

Mr. Harris explained that the program called for pupils earning one dollar apiece by their own efforts and not by begging or borrowing the dollars. They can earn their two dimes by home work, possibly, such as clearing away debris in and about homes, cleaning automobiles, darning clothes, taking out ashes and garbage, running errands, doing chores of one thing and another—anything at all that is legitimate and that represents actual toil on the part of the pupil endeavoring to earn the dollar desired from each one.

The headmaster, after more advice and vigorous suggestions, declared that the "Pupils Drive" ought to be most successful from the start, and he had absolute faith that it would be. As he closed, following another appeal for earnest work in the splendid cause that will be of benefit not only to the high school as an organization, but to the general public at large, he was roundly cheered by the two-thousand boys and girls present, and then the "Pupils Drive" received a round of cheers.

The students will start at once on their quest for the dollars. Some of them already have time to earn money after school hours and will have no trouble in acquiring their dollars. Others may look for work to do, and it is safe to say that in this campaign, many citizens of Lowell will be happy to find something for the eager high school boys and girls to do to earn the dimes needed to fill the individual quotas.

The pupils are also allowed to raise dollars by getting new Alumni members, as well as soliciting dollars from alumni men and women. This campaign is expected to be wide, for Lowell H. S. alumni have wandered to far fields during the past decade or two—many of them—and a little word of admonition to them may work wonders, some of the boys and girls agree.

Another campaign that must not be overlooked, is sponsored for members of the Alumni association, who are out to obtain one new member apiece, thus bringing in more dollars. This is a feature that will be gladly furnished.

The high school pupils' campaign closes two weeks from today—on April 25. That day will be called "Dollar Day", and it will be a lively day, for more dollars are to be collected in the "banks" and Lowell high school pupils will be there on the collection beyond a doubt, from all indications revealed at this morning's exuberant rally in high school hall.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted. The young woman is subject to pain and irregularities, the mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness—the middle-aged woman to the uncomfortable conditions caused by this critical age. The one cure for all these conditions and restore the system to a normal, healthy condition is Lydia E. Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

And circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEMEROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonard tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent. and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEMEROID from Green's Drug Store today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.—Adv.

The girls were judged on the following things, arrangement of drawings, vigor of stroke, accuracy of anatomy of animals.

The girls who competed were: Juniors—Section A—Misses Cabral, Gullman, Carey, Ringham, Childs; Section B—Misses Langell, Harshon, Evans, Buchner, Flaherty; Section C—Misses O'Brien, Palmer, Perkins, Leary, Mooney; Section D—Misses Warren, Stott, Rosatto, Regan, Tompkins.

Kindness to This Dog Saved
the Lives of Thirty-two Persons

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN

NEW YORK, April 11.—Kindness

days. Thirty-two persons here can prove it. For none of them would be alive today were it not for the kindness of two of their number to a dog.

All were asleep in a large New York apartment when fire broke out at 5 o'clock one Sunday morning. The flames spread rapidly. Many were soon overcome. None awoke.

But Fluffy, the Scotch collie dog, asleep at the foot of Mr. and Mrs.

FLUFFY AND THE COLLAR
AWARDED HER FOR HEROISM.

Frederick Donaldson's bed, scented trouble. She whined. But no one heard her.

So she leaped up on the bed and tugged away at her master, barking as loudly as she could. Finally she aroused him.

The two then ran through the smoke-filled hall, sounding the alarm. But flames soon cut off their escape and they were driven back to their rooms. There they found Mrs. Donaldson on a narrow fire escape and the dog lay down quietly on the window ledge, as the man carried his wife down the escape.

"Fluffy knew that I would come back for her," says Donaldson. "She wouldn't budge from her narrow perch, even later in the morning, indicates rain."

though she could see the flames licking their way through our rooms.

"When I picked her up, she clung close and tried to make herself as light as she could. For she weighed close to 100 pounds and made some load down the ladders."

"But my prayers seemed to help me. Finally I reached the street in safety—and so did the other tenants."

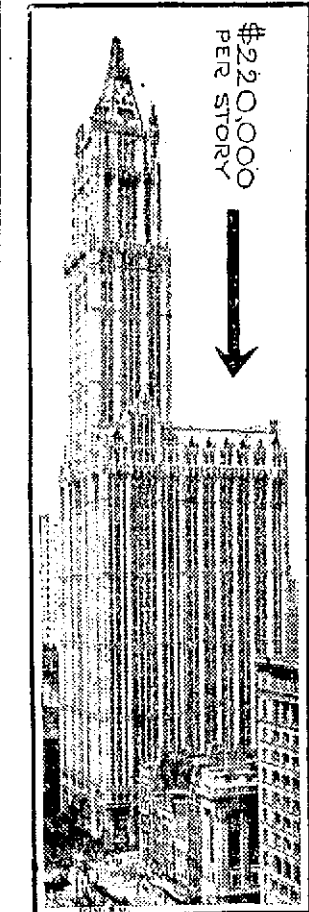

"And all through the faithfulness of my dog."

She has been in the family eight years and was treated kindly all the time.

"And it was this kindness repaid," adds Donaldson, "that saved our lives."

For Fluffy's meritorious rescue, the New York Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has awarded her with a silver-mounted collar—the D.S.M. of dogdom.

And the collie expresses its appreciation with a kindly bark.

A "BIG" BARGAIN
The Woolworth building, famed as the world's tallest office building, has been sold at approximately $200,000 per floor. Costing $12,500,000 to construct, it brought $11,000,000 to the Woolworth heirs. The building is 52 stories high and attracts tourists from all over the world to its tower.

All Indians do not wear blankets. Mrs. George Beaulieu (above) is a member of the Osage tribe, wealthiest group of individuals in the world since discovery of oil on their Oklahoma lands. Mrs. Beaulieu's income annually from oil land is $12,100 and soon will be more. She is a graduate of an eastern finishing school and is an accomplished musician. Her father is Chief Wheeler.

FINISH STUDY OF DAWES REPORT

PARIS, April 11.—(By the Associated Press.) The members of the reparations commission have made themselves fairly familiar with the recommendations embodied in the Dawes report and, although they have not finished their study of it, are ready for their first exchange of impressions at the unofficial meeting to be held in Chairman Barthou's office at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The first question to be decided is whether the Germans should be summoned for a hearing. After that, the commission's attitude must be decided on the broader issues arising from the experts' conclusions.

CONSIDER MERCHANT MARINE ACT

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Consideration of section 25 of the merchant marine act was continued today by the house merchant marine committee with representatives of the interstate commerce commission present to testify in regard to its enforcement.

Desire of the committee to ascertain the attitude of the commission was heightened yesterday by a statement of Commissioner Thompson of the shipping board that the commission had called a meeting for next week to consider whether it might not have acted prematurely in fixing May 20, as the date for putting into effect the preferential railroad freight rates for shippers using American vessels, as authorized by the section.

SERIES OF LECTURES AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The opening of a fourth series of lectures to be given this academic year at the Lowell State Normal school on the general topic, "Teaching Ideals to Youth in a Democracy," is attracting very favorable attention. Most of the lectures are to be given on Wednesday afternoons, at 2:15 o'clock, in the school assembly hall.

Miss Helen D. Freeborn of the Washington Junior high school, Rochester, N. Y., opened the series last Wednesday afternoon, speaking on the subject, "Ideals of Justice and Fair Play Through Student Participation."

It is announced that the Literature club of the Normal school will provide a program entitled "The Love of Literature," next Wednesday afternoon. Miss Rose Leary, president of the club, will preside. There will be readings of Scotch poetry by Miss Catherine Graham, and of Southern dialect songs by Miss Edna Lawrence. "Ideals of Beauty in Art" will be the subject of Fred H. Daniels, director of art education, of Newton, on May 7. Dr. Payton Smith, state commissioner of education, will speak May 18 on "Ideals of Co-operative Service."

At a date to be announced later, Mrs. Winifred Hathaway, secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, of New York city, will lecture on "Ideals of Health Conservation." Ralph W. Baldwin, supervisor of music, Hartford, Conn., will speak June 4 on "Ideals of Beauty in Music."

The Normal school graduation address on June 18 will be delivered by Miss Mary McKimmon of the Pierce school, Brookline.

Daugherty on Train With Wheeler and Brookhart

Brookhart, and with J. J. McGraw, Tulsa, Okla., banker, on the stand. McGraw said he knew Harry M.

Daugherty "very well" and also knew the defendants in the Miller brothers' case in the Indian land frauds in Oklahoma. McGraw was formerly national committeeman from Oklahoma and he explained his understanding of the political affiliations of the members of the Miller brothers' group. He has "a general knowledge of the Miller land deals," the witness said, but had not been consulted by them in the deals, nor had he directly financed those transactions in any way through his banks. After indictments were returned the Millers "talked" to him, he said, and "he always advised them to contest the cases."

Asked if he knew of the report of Cox and Rankin, two investigators, who inquired into the case, the witness replied: "Oh, no, I don't think I ever met those men."

One of the Millers, after the Harding administration went in, came to him with a view to getting Daugherty's attention attracted to the Cox and Rankin report.

"I saw Attorney General Daugherty

once or twice in 1921," McGraw said. "We discussed the Cox and Rankin report and I asked him to go into it."

McGraw quoted Daugherty as saying, "I'm going to prosecute these cases; there is nothing else for me to do."

Daugherty also told him, he said, that he was thinking of employing a "prominent democratic lawyer in the case." McGraw recommended Judge Armstrong of Oklahoma, but Daugherty selected former United States Attorney Peck.

The witness told of a conversation with Senator Harrell of Oklahoma, whose attitude toward the Millers was "very vicious," he said. The senator told him he "didn't want those boys to get away with all those oil lands down there," McGraw said.

The witness said he had told Senator Harrell there was "no oil on the lands" and that later Harrell went with him to see Daugherty and withdraw any statement he had made to Daugherty indicating that the case involved oil lands. He quoted Harrell as saying:

"I am sorry for any misrepresentation I may have made to you, Mr. Attorney General, and any disposition you make of the case will be satisfactory to me."

The Millers never "contributed a dollar," McGraw said, to any of his election expenses in Oklahoma. He was defeated for re-election as national committeeman by the late Jake Hamon. He said he had "never heard" stories of extraordinary expenditures by Hamon in the Harding campaign until they came up before senate investigating committees. He doubted, these stories because, he said, Hamon was in "financial straits" at the time of his death, five months after the Chicago convention.

McGraw denied specifically that he had ever given E. W. Jacoby or W. A. Brownley any money to "distribute" or that he had raised "any money" for the Harding campaign. As to the republican committee deficit, he said, "It was never suggested" that he raise funds; although he might have contributed personally.

"I never brought a dollar to Washington in campaign funds," McGraw said, "and I never talked with Attorney General Daugherty about the deficit."

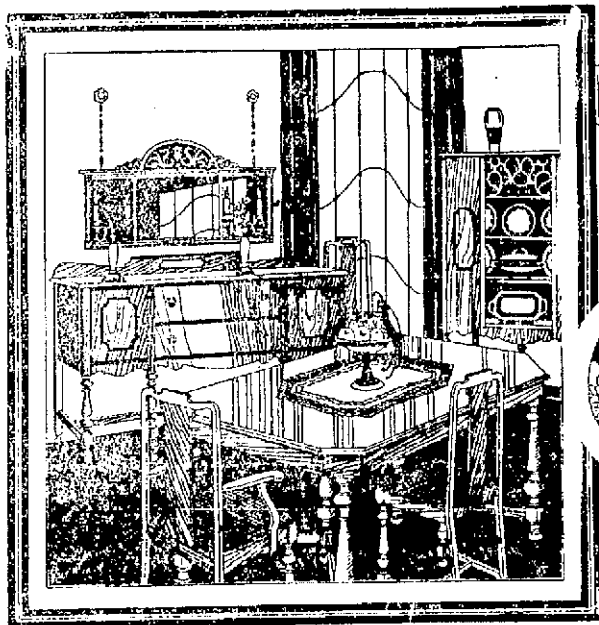

Senator Jones, republican, Washington, asked if McGraw "had a special mission to see Daugherty" on the Miller case, and the witness said he "might" have told the Millers he would "see Daugherty" while in Washington. He added he "could not swear under oath" that the Millers had ever asked to see the attorney general.

All of his conferences with Daugherty had to do with the criminal cases, McGraw said.

B. & M. IN NEW UNION LABOR AGREEMENT

Settlement of labor disputes "within the family" may bring a new era to some railroad corporation methods of management in the future, when working conditions and problems of employment come up for discussion between employers and employees.

The Boston & Maine railroad corporation has entered into an important working agreement with several of the largest railroad union brotherhoods, for the purpose of amicably handling and adjusting all grievances and disputes which may arise in the future between themselves and without reference to any outside agencies. The Sun is informed today.

Interviews with some of the leading members of railway unions with branches located in Lowell, including the clerks, freight-handlers, express and station employees, reveals the information, that while not every brotherhood local in the lengthy B. & M. list and involving railroad employees of all callings in the working organization, have joined formally in the agreement made with several organizations leading the way, several locals have endorsed the idea and taken it up with considerable enthusiasm. Members are confident that it will work out well in future labor disputes with the railroad corporation, should disputes arise that call for friendly debate.

Clerks in Agreement

At the Boston & Maine freight offices on Thordike street, where members of the brotherhood are numerous, The Sun was told by a union representative that everything had been agreed upon as reported. Some members of the Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees' unions, which organizations have heretofore worked separately in wage adjustment campaigns for the benefit of the individual branches, said today that in the future there will be a solid line-up of all workers in the categories named, in order to make the new plan work out to the best interests of those who toil for the Boston & Maine railroad at all points on the New England system.

The announcement that comes to The Sun and taken from an official report, states that the Boston & Maine management has entered into an agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees "for the purpose of handling grievances and disputes which may arise between themselves and without reference to any outside agency."

Board of Adjustment

A board of adjustment has been created to be composed of an equal number from the railroad management and the labor organization personnel, to serve for a period of one year. It is mutually agreed that decisions rendered by this board shall be binding upon both parties and not subject to appeal to any other tribunal, except that when it is found impossible to come to a satisfactory agreement, this board itself may submit any matter to the United States railroad labor board or to any other arbitrator mutually agreed upon.

Matters are not taken up with the board of adjustment unless decisions given by the Boston & Maine railroad management are not found satisfactory to the labor organization, in which case they may be appealed to the board. The Sun is informed that the whole plan is to facilitate settlement of labor disputes "within the family." It is intended also, according to Boston & Maine directors, to "make the efforts of labor agitators to foment discord more difficult and actually lessen the opportunities for disturbance." Naturally, the directors of the railroad as well as the employees themselves entering the friendly agreement on what appears today from the outside, at least, to be an interesting departure, with both parties working in entire harmony thus far on a brand new road that has possibilities.

CITY FATHERS VISIT GRAVE OF NOTABLE

While en route to the isolation hospital yesterday to conduct a part of the investigation of that institution now underway, members of the council investigating committee staved off the possibility of setting a councilmanic precedent, that of arriving ahead of time, by stopping in a cemetery.

While it is rather the usual thing for mortals to visit a hospital first and then a cemetery, Counselor J. Joseph Hennessey reversed the procedure for this special occasion. He took the members into the Woodbine cemetery, near the hospital where they gazed upon many of the old tombstones and read the inscriptions thereon.

Chief in interest was the marker over the grave of Marie Louis Amand, Anwar de Marquilles, colonel under Lafayette, who came here to aid his distinguished fellow countryman at the outset of the American revolution. The stone records that he came here in 1776 and was immediately commissioned a colonel of artillery and made master of the foundries turning out the big guns of those days. He died in 1804 at the age of 62. The grave is appropriately marked by the Sons of the American Revolution and like all those about it shows the results of tender care.

The English channel is more salty in winter than in summer.

TRIPLET LAMBS AT COLLINSVILLE FARM

Collinsville appears on the front page again today, this time with the tidings that Robert C. Mills is the proud possessor of triplet lambs, born late last week on the Mills farm where lambs have been frolicking for some time past. The mother of the triplets is of the Damboult breed and is two years old.

FIREMEN'S WAGE QUESTION
Selectman Andrew P. Sousa has submitted a minority report on the recent firemen's wage question, so Billerica voters may thoroughly understand the matter, he says. He declares that wages should be increased and explains why he favors it in a lengthy letter addressed to the Billerica board of selectmen and intended for public digestion. He intimates that the reason for Selectman Sheridan's opposition to the wage increase is not clear. It is understood that Messrs. Sheridan and Buck, the two other members of the board of selectmen, do not favor the increase under debate, because Billerica firemen "are already pretty well paid as it is," as Mr. Sheridan puts it in a rejoinder to the Sousa letter.

JOHNNY SHEPPARD WINS DECISION OVER DANNY EDWARDS

Former Lowell Boy Takes Another Step Toward Championship by Beating Californian Champ—Andrews Defeats Gray—Jimmy Gardner at Bouts

Johnny Sheppard of Woburn, scored his second victory of the week and advanced another step toward championship honors, when he won a clean-cut victory over Danny Edwards, colored bantam champ, in the main bout of the Moody club show at Crescent rink last night.

A good sized crowd turned out to see the bouts. Among those present were delegations from Woburn, Lawrence and Nashua. The Sheppard-Edwards event was labelled a big city number and it proved a humdinger. Edwards weighed 120½ and Sheppard 122. After Referee Joe Quinn of Boston had called the little fellows to the centre for instructions the bout got under way. It started off at a speedy clip, with Edwards jumping into the lead. He carried the fight to Sheppard and uncovered a whirlwind attack. Sheppard countered well but remained on the defensive throughout the round to get a line on his opponent.

After the first session Sheppard had solved the colored boy's tactics, and from then on the former Lowell boy went to the front. He gave Edwards no quarter, taking advantage of every opening, and planting stiff jolts to the Californian's head and body.

But Edwards fought back cleverly with his skill and generalship brought him through many dangerous moments. Sheppard put everything into his blows, and while he scored many heavy socks, he missed a number because of the speed of the crafty colored lad.

The bout proved an interesting demonstration of a boxer against a fighter. Edwards portrayed the boxer and he the fighter. The art of Sheppard was the aggressive fighter, tearing in and keeping busy all the while. To miss a blow meant nothing to Sheppard. He only lunged forward again and again, and he subjected Edwards to considerable body punishment. The Californian hit the Woburnite low on several occasions, but the blows were unintentional and did no damage.

The bout finished up with both boys travelling at whirlwind speed, and while Sheppard deserved the decision awarded him, Edwards gave him a hard battle. Hence both left the ring amid vigorous applause.

Johnny Andrews, of Boston, making his debut as a semi-finalist, met John Gray of Nashua, and the Bostonian continued his classy work. He's only a youngster, but he seems to improve with every appearance. He met a tartar in Gray and a slashing battle ensued. It was fairly even in the early stages, but Andrews forged his way to the front. In the seventh round Andrews sent Gray to the mat for a count of three. Gray got up and hung on till the bell. In the eighth Gray came out of his corner fighting. Andrews met him at his own game. A terrific three-minute session followed with Andrews having the edge.

Young Cronin of Lawrence joined the list of one round kazo artists by stopping Gray in the first round.

Jimmy Gardner, former "pride of Lowell" and one of the cleverest men of his day, attended the local bouts last night. He is associated with Paddy Minnehan, manager of Johnny Sheppard. He looks the picture of health and reports that he never felt better in his life. He asked The Sun to extend his greetings to his many Lowell friends.

Boyle vs. Gradwell

The announcement of the re-matching of Phineas Boyle and Willie Gradwell for next Saturday night has been well received in little circles. Their last bout was a hectic battle, with Gradwell being awarded an unpopular decision.

Bouts in Nashua

A large number of local admirers of Martin Flaherty, Jr., will journey to Nashua to see him battle against Paul de Salvo of Quincy in the main event of the Nashua Driving club show. Young Martin is well trained and confident of winning over the Quincy "cave-man." Three other Lowell boys are on the card. Local fans may procure tickets at Green's drug store in the square.

Striking to Meet Quinn

APPLETON, Wis., April 11.—Young Striking, the Georgia schoolboy, meets Gunner Joe Quinn of Minneapolis here tonight in a 10-round no-decision bout. Striking is expected to win, but the Minneapolis man is tough, and has a heavy punch.

Delaney Beats Robinson

BOSTON, April 11.—Jack Delaney of Bridgport barely captured the decision in a 10-round contest with George Robinson of Cambridge at the Suffolk A. C. show in Mechanics hall last night. A rally in the ninth round, in which Delaney scored with telling effect, rocking the Cambridge man with rights and lefts to the head and jaw saved the verdict for the visitor. Robinson, furious out of the heat of the fight, blocked Delaney's best efforts and time and again poked his aggravating left jab into Delaney's face.

BRAVES CUT SQUAD AND SEND FOUR PLAYERS TO WORCESTER

Ike Kamp Among Quartet Released to Eastern League Team—Pitcher Dean, Purchased by McGraw for $50,000, Twirled Giants to Victory Over White Sox

BOSTON, April 11.—Two rookie hurlers, an infielder and an outfielder are on their way today to the Worcester club of the Eastern league, as the result of a cut in the Boston Nationals' squad at Atlantic City yesterday. The group consists of Pitcher Kyle Graham, drafted from the Little Rock, Ark., club; Hunter Lane, late of the Kansas City, Mo., club; infielder Bob Emerich, outfielder with Worcester last year, and Ike Kamp of Boston.

A red, white and blue season pass to the Braves field, will be mailed to President Coolidge, by the Braves' management before the squad reaches the north. Secretary Eddie Riley said yesterday. Lane prevented the playing of the Braves-Washington game yesterday.

At Louisville, Ky., yesterday, the Boston Americans came from behind when the Louisville American association club, leading 5 to 0, and won 5 to 0. Curtis Patterson, on the mound in the last four frames, allowed the Colonels one hit and no runs. Pudley Lee, young star of the Louisville team, pitched at second, Frankie Fritch at third and Jackson at shortstop. Fritch appeared out of gear, but Young and Terry, the latter with two more hits, worked smoothly. Jimmy O'Connell took Young's place in the outfield and smacked two hits. Meusel and Southworth hit home runs with two men on base. Kelly and Groh are expected to be in the lineup Saturday.

After the Roanoke game yesterday, the ranks of the Braves and Yankees began to crumble and several men dashed off to New York where the two teams start a two-game series Saturday. Manager Huggins of the Yankees, however, intended to liberally break Everett Scott's consecutive game record, which now totals 113.

A full note entered the Yankee camp when George Pipgras, relief pitcher last year, was called to his home at Stuyton, Minn., by the death of his mother.

Tigers and Reds in Last Game

DETROIT, April 11.—The Detroit Americans and the Cincinnati nationals are scheduled to play the last game of their live game exhibition series at Knoxville, Tenn., today. By winning today's game, Detroit can break even on the series. Linn prevented yesterday's game at Cleveland, Tenn.

Chance Reaches Chicago

CHICAGO, April 11.—Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago Americans comes to Chicago today after a battle against ill health while delegating his coaching duties to his spring training quarters. He will take charge of the club on its arrival here with the New York Giants tomorrow.

The White Sox and Giants renew their rivalry today at Indianapolis.

Elmer Jacobs, Seattle rover, passed five men and allowed three hits good for seven runs before he was chased from the hill in the first inning of the Chicago game.

TEXTILE TEAM TO MEET PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

Lowell Textile's baseball team will engage in its second varsity struggle on the Textile campus when it meets Providence college tomorrow afternoon. The Rubber team is expected to put on a fine show and to have the Indian sign on the Red and Gray on athletes. They have two baseball victories and one football win to their credit over the Engineers.

Coach "Bob" Ganley gave his men a real stiff workout on the campus this afternoon. He is elated with the team's success in the opening encounter against Boston university last Wednesday, and looks forward to a prosperous season.

Ten boys tried out and all the times were creditable, with only six chosen by Coach Haggerty showing the balance of power and speed. A mile team could have been picked yesterday which would have averaged about 55 seconds per man for the quarter, but this time will be materially cut as the practice sessions get underway. Coach Haggerty realized it was not fair to the boys to conduct time trials on the first day outdoors, but entries must be forwarded to Philadelphia at once and there was no choice as far as the local school authorities were concerned.

PIRATES CHANGE LINE-UP

PITTSBURGH, April 11.—When the Pittsburgh Nationals line up against the Memphis team of the Southern association in an exhibition game at Memphis today, it will be with a radically changed batting order, according to word reaching here. Maranville will bat first with Carey, Bigbee, Traynor, Barnhart, Wright, Grimm, catcher and pitcher following in order named. Maranville supplies Bigbee as lead-off man, and Traynor becomes clean-up hitter in place of Barnhart.

Capt. Max Carey was on his way today to consult a specialist in Youngstown, Ohio, about a sore arm. He will rejoin the team in Louisville, Sunday. Hazen Cuyler, a recruit, is playing centerfield until the veteran is able to take his place again. Yesterday's game with Memphis was cancelled because of rain.

ST. LOUIS TEAMS WIN

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—Looking to the clash with the Cardinals Saturday, the St. Louis Browns found their batting eyes yesterday, humbling the Tulsa, Okla., Oilers 6 to 3, thereby revengeing their defeat of Wednesday. The Browns, including five two sackers, repulsed the Oilers' attack, paced by Robinson, Williams and the new infielder, Sisler. The Browns did far better than they did in their last exhibition game, and three defeats as their exhibition record against six class A minor league clubs.

As for the Cardinals, they ended their stay in the south by a 5-2 victory over the Nashville (Tenn.) Volunteers. Jack Smith led the Cards offense with three doubles, while Howard Frigien came through with a triple and single. Just as the Cardinals were about to start for the first three innings he held the mound. The Ricklevens will arrive in St. Louis today to test up for the opening of the city series with the Browns.

INDIANS AT TUSCALOOSA

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 11.—The Cleveland Indians were at Tuscaloosa today for an exhibition game with University of Alabama, from which they are regulars. Shortstop Joe Sewell, Second Baseman Elick Stephenson and Catcher Lake Sewell, graduated. Guy Morton, another native, is slated to pitch part of the game.

A light rain interfered with Cleveland's final workout at New Orleans yesterday.

RAIN PREVENTS GAME

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Rain prevented the scheduled barnstorming exhibition game between the Boston Braves and Washington Senators at Atlanta, yesterday but both teams were at Spartanburg, S. C., today for their final road engagement of the pre-season series. They are to continue hostilities, however, in Washington where the first of two games will be played tomorrow, winding up the exhibition series.

DIXON'S NOW AN HONOR STUDENT

Here's a suggestion to short story writers—look up Tommy Dixon, honor student at Kansas university.

Dixon for years was considered one of the toughest pugilists of the middle west. He would fight anybody and anything from a mosquito to a buzz saw. For several seasons he was a member of a pugilistic "stable" under the management of Jimmy Hurst of Kansas City.

When Dixon drifted past the state of being the best of his class he obtained employment as instructor in boxing at Kansas university.

Association with students and teachers fired him with ambition and he began to look into the advantages of having a bit of "book learnin'."

During hours off duty Dixon delved into text books and prepared himself for the university examinations. These he passed with flying colors and now he is carrying a regular 15-hour course in the school.

"Just tell the folks I am making good as a university man," he said recently. "I expect to have a lot of knowledge of something else besides fighting some of these days."

NATIONAL MAY ADOPT SYSTEM OF AMERICAN

By N.E.A. Service
CHICAGO, April 11.—Some years ago at the suggestion of President Van Johnson, the American league adopted a rule forbidding clubs of his league to play a series of games with each other prior to the opening of the season.

President Johnson urged the adoption of the rule because he felt these games took considerable time away from the opening of the season.

The American league head also insisted that if some club in the same league was soundly trounced by other clubs in the spring games, the fans at home would give up hope before the bell rang.

The National league at the time ridiculed the idea and insisted no harm came from the inter-league games.

President Johnson liked the idea of American league teams playing National league clubs, since such games afforded real competition and often proved profitable financially without any reaction resulting.

HOPPE RETAINS BILLIARD TITLE

NEW YORK, April 11.—While Hoppe's title of world's 182 ball billiard champion will not be endangered again until the annual championship tournament in the fall, the veteran last night exhausted the eligible challengers by defeating Edward Horremans of Belgium, 1500 to 958, although the latter won the final block, 618 to 500.

The Belgian displayed his best billiards in the match in the final block after Hoppe, with an opening run of 228 increased the score to 402 to 53 and threatened to repeat his overwhelming victory of the second block. Hoppe first won the championship in 1908, but resigned it in the same year. He won it again in 1910 and has had an unbroken tenure since that time with the exception of 1921, when Jake Schaefer, after tying Hoppe in the tournament won the playoff.

LOCKOUT AFFECTS 100,000 MEN

LONDON, April 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—The shipbuilding employers federation announced today that since the striking shipyard workers at Southampton had not resumed work in accordance with the instructions of the executive councils of their unions, lockout notices throughout the country would become effective at the close of work tonight.

Approximately 100,000 men will be affected by the lockout.

WOOLEN CO. MILL CUTS ITS WORK SCHEDULE

The Bay State mills of the American Woolen Co., employing about 350 hands at the present time, have gone on a three-day week schedule. This mill was running full up to last week and is devoted to the manufacture of women's wear, cloakings and worsteds. The mill has 25 sets of cards, 115 broad looms and 11,000 spindles. The normal employment is 700 persons.

Saco-Lowell shops, manufacturers of textile machinery, and the Shaw-husery concern have further curtailed in some departments. In Lawrence the Everett mill which has been completely closed down for some time, has started again on a 3-day week schedule. In the Pacific there the cotton cloth and bleached goods departments are running full time but the blanchery and print works are on three days.

Rivers Cause Closings
Word today from Winchendon brought the news that swollen streams have caused shutdowns in many manufacturing plants in that section. High water in the Miller, Contoosook, Man-eat and Nashua rivers caused the closing of several textile factories today.

The Slater mill, Southville mill and Chase plants of the American Woolen Co., in Webster, were compelled to close because of water in their engine pits.

The water poured into the boiler room of the Eagle Lake Co. mill at Jefferson, causing several hundred dollars damage. At Fitchburg several departments at the Parkhill mill were closed on account of high water. Officials of the Hamilton Woolen Co., of Southbridge, are taking every precaution to prevent the flooding of their plant.

The Hopedale Mfg. Co. of Milford, was also compelled to close and the Lancaster mills of Clinton, suffered severely when the Nashua river overflowed its banks.

He was at the bedside when James passed away, however, and with New York detectives, he heard his younger brother tell of Panzes approaching him unexpectedly while he was leaning against a post in a cafe at the corner of 55th street and 8th avenue, and plunging a knife into his abdomen. He died two days later. James Mavrakes, well known in the local Greek community, left this city to seek employment in New York about two months ago. He was formerly employed in the Laganas shoe factory here. Failing to find a position in the big city, he secured transportation to Flu.

"Tanlac has certainly meant health and happiness to me, for I have not had a sick day since I banished my troubles over a year ago," declares Mrs. Lena Benson, 146 Lancaster St., Portland, Me., recently.

"Influenza left me so weak and miserable that I thought I would never be myself again. My appetite was woe-

According to the story told by his brother today, James joined in a reunion with a group of friends that same evening and was enjoying himself in the cafe when Panzes, unknown to him at the time, interfered with the program. James and the other members of the party resented the intrusion with the result that an argument followed. In the exchange of blows, the Lowell youth received an eye bruise and dis-

Gas—Water—Oil The Three Essentials

ON these three essentials depends the power output and satisfactory performance of your car, allowing that it is in reasonably good mechanical condition.

Of these three, the lubricating oil, representing but little more than 2 1/4% of the cost of operation, maintenance and depreciation, carries the burden of protecting the 1500 or more moving parts and of providing the piston ring seal necessary to obtain full compression.

Your lubricating oil is the most important factor in protecting you against expensive repairs and rapid depreciation.

Oil should be added frequently in the quantity necessary to maintain the oil in the reservoir between half full and "full."

Every 1000 miles the used oil should be drained from the crank-case and an entire fresh supply poured in.

For these reasons the careful motorist today buys his Gargoyle Mobiloil in sealed 5-gallon cans or 15-, 30-, or 55-gallon steel drums (with convenient, leak-proof faucets) and keeps a supply in his home garage.

With such a supply of Mobiloil in your home garage you form the valuable habit of attending frequently to the oil level in the engine. And you protect yourself against any need to accept a substitute for genuine Mobiloil.

Nearby dealers carry complete stocks of Gargoyle Mobiloil in all grades and in the various sizes of containers. Their copy of the Complete Chart of Recommendations will show exactly which grade of Mobiloil should be used for your car—no matter what make or model it may be.

NO GENERAL HOUSE CLEANING BY STONE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Atty. Gen. Stone is prepared to continue the present department of justice personnel and policies until conditions prove that changes are necessary. He contemplates no general house cleaning and has informed his assistants that he believes it better to get the work done by men familiar with all details and routine than by bringing in new men. The attitude of the new attorney general as outlined today at the department, however, is that disobedience or failure to obtain results will warrant quick and summary action.

WEALTHDOM'S YOUNGEST GRANDMA

When Mrs. Harry C. Cushing 3rd (upper left) became the mother of a baby boy the other day it made Mrs. Gloria Morgan (upper right) a "grandma" at the age of 19. It happens this way: Mrs. Cushing is the former Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, Reginald Vanderbilt, her father, married the beautiful 18-year-old Gloria Morgan, thus making Mrs. Vanderbilt stepmother to the youthful society queen. With the arrival of an heir to the Cushing fortune she thus becomes a grandmother. Below left is Cushing 3rd, with a "happy father" smile and, at right, is Reginald Vanderbilt.

DE MAR TRAINS FOR MARATHON

De Mar seeks a place on the American Olympic Marathon team for which the A.A.A. run is the final try-out. Sixty-six entries have been filed for the race and many more are expected.

Posting of Danger Sign in Amusement Park Not Sufficient, Says Court

BOSTON, April 10.—The posting of a danger sign in an amusement park is not sufficient defense in the injury of a patron unless the latter is proved to have known of its presence. The state supreme court ruled today in the case of Emile Blanchette against the Union Street Railway Co. of New Bedford.

Blanchette, a war veteran, was injured in sliding down a chute in an amusement park owned by the railway company, and brought suit for damages. The defendant asserted that a sign hung near the chute warned Blanchette that he was using it at his own risk. The superior court directed a verdict for the defendant, but exceptions carried to the supreme court were sustained there. The suit will be retried.

TO CLOSE JOHNSON HEAD-QUARTERS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 10 (by the Associated Press).—Hotel rooms in Presidential Row, which have served as headquarters for Senator Hiram Johnson's campaign will be available to new tenants Monday. Officers of the hotel expected the Johnson suite would be vacated today or tomorrow.

Although the Chicago offices have not been considered national headquarters of the campaign since Frank H. Hitchcock abandoned active general direction of the Johnson force early in February, they have served as a clearing house for strategic plans for several mid-western states.

File and papers from the hotel suite will be transferred to the law offices of Harold L. Ickes, Illinois manager for the senator.

When Mr. Hitchcock withdrew from the Chicago quarters in February, following Mr. Ickes' appointment as Illinois manager, he emphasized that in the broader sense, the Johnson campaign would be constituted of a number of individual and virtually independent state contests, with only such general co-ordination as might be suggested by Senator Johnson.

Well Organized in California
SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Senator Johnson's campaign in California is well organized and will be vigorously pressed, according to a statement issued here today by headquarters for the Johnson forces. The statement declared that Senator Johnson had withdrawn from the presidential primary campaign.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The government today nolle prossed one of the indictments against Representative John W. Another in which he is named with several others still stands.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 14

In almost no time Jack felt himself dropping through the air. "Better slow down before we come to the ground," he shouted, "or I will hurt my feet when I land." "Don't worry," replied the tube, "I'll land you safe and sound." And Jack then felt the dropping grow more slow.

Jack gazed around him, as he realized his hands were getting tired from hanging on to the tube. He was afraid he might have to let go. But in a few moments the tube started passing free tops on its way to the ground. Then suddenly Jack felt his feet touch the earth again.

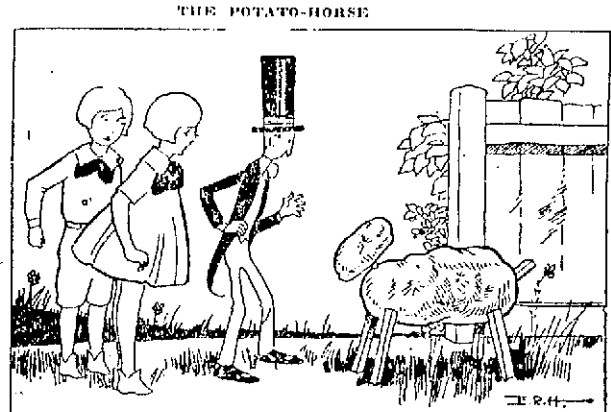

"Well, here we are," said the tube. And when Flip leaped to the ground the tube flopped over flat and said, "I'm tired and am going to take a rest." "Where are we now?" questioned Jack. "Ho, ha," laughed the tube. "Don't you know? Why, we're in the Land of Rubber." (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

Along the road of Doodnunny Land, skinned Nancey and Nick and Mister Fuzz Wuzz smiling.

"We're so happy and so gay. We could throw ourselves away. But we'd come back in a hurry. So you really needn't worry." "What's that?" "What's that?" cried a sour voice beside them. A very sour voice!

"We were just saying," said Nick, "that we were very happy."

"But you've gone and spoiled it all!" declared Nancey. "Nobody can be happy with someone like you growling at them in a voice like that."

"I should say not!" remarked Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "Who are you, anyway? Why don't you come out and let us have a look?"

"Because I can't see! I'm blind and here I stay. I suppose for the rest of my days. It makes me nervous to hear people saying that they are so happy and so gay."

"Stuff and nonsense! Who wants you to be sorry? But it does seem too bad that I who had a dozen eyes, can't see a thing any more."

"If you can't come to us, we shall go to you," declared Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "I don't like anybody in Doodnunny Land to be unhappy."

"And whom do you think they found? The potato-horse—the proud steed with match legs and brown straw tail!"

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud."

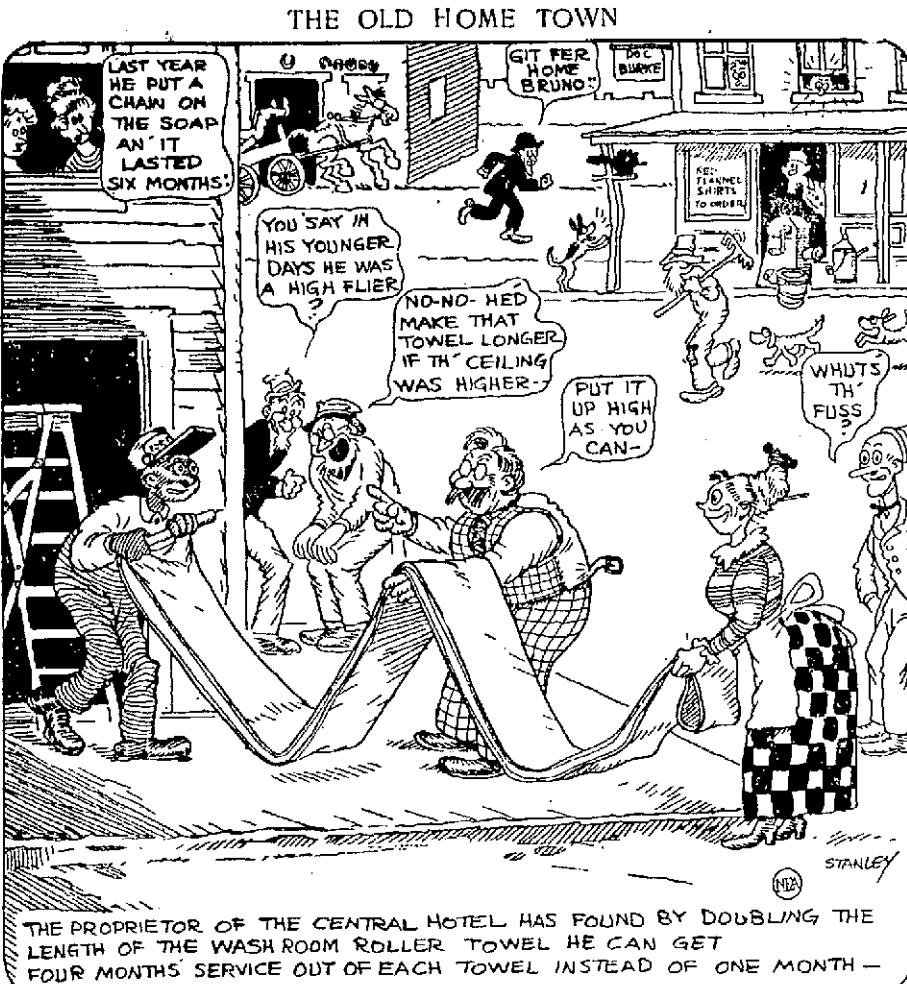

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud."

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud."

won't see," said the little man. "But I give it up. Come on, Twins. This fellow has made up his mind to be unhappy, no matter what we do. Let's see—where did we leave off? Oh, yes! We're so happy and so gay—come on, all together! Sing everybody!"

"Rubbish!" said the horse. "No sympathy in this world!"

Two Army Tanks Occupy
Positions Near Mine at
Pineville, Ky.

Scene of Week's Warfare
Between Soldiers and Men
Who Sought to Close Mine

PINEVILLE, Ky., April 11.—Two army tanks from Lexington today were occupying commanding positions on the property of the Liberty Coal & Coke Co., at Straight Creek, the scene of a week's warfare between soldiers and persons who would prevent operation of the mine.

One of the tanks is atop a large pile of slate where the gunners within command a full sweep of the country. To the right of the tank is the spot where a miner was slain last week and within easy range is the densely wooded stretch of mountain which had concealed marksmen who intermittently have been firing into the village. Heretofore guardsmen were exposed to the direct fire, while standing beside their posts at machine guns. With the tanks in position, however, the guardsmen can sit within safety and command the situation. The tank is equipped with one-pounders and shrapnel can be scattered into any point on the mountain with great accuracy, according to Maj. J. K. Dillon.

The other tank took up a position in the camp where it can be brought into immediate action in the event of an attack.

The camp was quiet today.

Vesper Country Club Holds
Annual Meeting — Report
on New Club House

The annual business meeting of the Vesper Country Club was held last night in Middlesex hall for the purpose of hearing annual reports and electing four directors. The reports submitted were those of Treasurer Arthur J. Murkland and Secretary Andrew G. Swapp.

Directors chosen were Harry G. Pollard, Thomas Southam and George Runkel for three years, and Harvey W.

HARRY G. POLLARD
President

Tarbell for two years. After the meeting the directors elected officers as follows: President, Harry G. Pollard; vice presidents, Hon. John C. Leggett and Albert D. Milliken; treasurer, Arthur J. Murkland; secretary, Andrew G. Swapp.

Featured in the splendid report of Secretary Swapp was the announcement that the new clubhouse, which takes the place of the one burned early last year, will be ready for occupancy on June 1. The contractor at present is one week ahead of his schedule and unless something unforeseen occurs nothing will prevent the formal opening on that date.

Prospects of a most successful and busy season at Vesper are bright. It is felt that interest in club activities will greatly increase with the opening of the new house and the organization will be able to expand its program of events as never before. The new house will have double the accommodations of the old one.

"Err-r, Err-r, outside, everybody." Few ex-service men but remember the shrill whistle and the stentorian tones that greeted them every so often when they first arrived as a rookie. Morning, noon and night the old whistle would shrill out and a formation would be in order.

Commander Collin C. Macdonald of Lowell Post, 87, American Legion, has sounded the whistle for a meeting tonight of all team captains and workers in the membership raid. Just as a whistle meant in the old days it signifies today that there is work to be done and enough of it to go all the way round.

All Legionnaires that are out to increase the strength of their post are asked to turn out tonight. Former members with the whereabouts to renew are invited to get in line.

MOVE TO END REVENUE BUREAU INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A move to end the inquiry into the conduct of the internal revenue bureau came before the senate today as a sequel of the investigating committee's decision Wednesday to permit Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, the prosecutor, to employ Francis J. Heney of California, celebrated prosecutor, as special counsel at his own expense.

The proposal made yesterday in a resolution by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, calling for discharge of the committee, of which he is chairman, went over until today under the rules.

GUEST OF LOCAL KNIGHTS

State Deputy Prout of Boston
Pays First Visit to Knights'

New Home

William C. Prout of Boston, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, paid his first visit to the new home of the local knights in Dutton street last evening and was enthusiastically received by a gathering of members which filled the spacious and beautiful assembly hall.

The affair was in the nature of a reception to the popular state deputy and proved a success from every angle. A chicken supper was served by Caterer Lydon shortly before 7 o'clock, and this was followed by a pleasant program of speaking and entertainment.

Charles P. Miner and Thomas J. Dowd were at the piano during the banquet and interspersed melodious strains between courses.

Grand Knight Frank A. Groves was in the chair when the festivities began, and after welcoming the members, he turned the meeting over to Lecturer Edward F. Slatery, Jr. Besides the grand knight and the lecturer, there were seated at the main table, State Deputy Prout, Chaplain Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, Louis Watson, master of the Fourth Degree in Cabot province, Deputy Grand Knight John J. Flannery, John V. Donoghue, faithful navigator of Bishop Delany assembly, Fourth Degree, Peter Farrington, secretary of committee in charge, Hon. James B. Casey and Irving Libby, members of the reception committee.

In glowing terms, Lecturer Slatery introduced the main speaker of the evening, Mr. Prout. In his introductory remarks, the toastmaster recalled the days when the state deputy was winning athletic laurels as a renowned member of the Boston Athletic association relay team, when the sporting world knew him as "Billy" Prout. A few years later, the toastmaster said, he was reading in the newspapers that William C. Prout had been made president of the Amateur Athletic union, which position he now holds.

The guest of the evening was roundly applauded when he arose to speak, and that it was with conflicting emotions that he gazed on his audience after such a wonderful introduction, he congratulated Lowell council on its new home and the rejuvenated spirit of the members. In a practical way, he told many inside stories of the great work that is being accomplished by the Amateur Athletic union in the way of encouraging participation in athletic sports for money, but for "love of the game."

He also referred to the athletic endeavors of the Knights of Columbus, laying especial emphasis on the new playground sponsored by the organization and dedicated in Rome, Italy, a few days ago. He stressed, too, the character of the Knights of Columbus, the several divisions of institutions throughout the country, and the efforts that are being made to maintain the high standard of the order in the business and commercial life of the world.

Deputy Prout's wide range of knowledge on practically every subject found willing listeners in the audience, and when he concluded, he was greeted with three cheers and a tiger.

Louis Watson, master of the Fourth Degree in Cabot province, followed Deputy Prout and gave a vivid description of the aims and aspirations of the Fourth Degree. He urged every member of Lowell council to avail himself of the opportunity to participate in the big exemplification scheduled to take place in the Memorial Auditorium on May 4 next, saying that Lowell was specially honored in being granted the privilege of holding the degree here.

Master Watson said he is allowed the privilege of conducting two exemplifications in the state each year. As a general rule, one of them is held in Boston and the other in the western part of the state. A precedent in about to be established, therefore, he said, in holding the affair this year in Lowell.

The third and final speaker of the evening was Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, energetic chaplain of Lowell council. In his customary forceful and convincing manner, Fr. Heffernan called for a continuance of the high and lofty ideals that have made their impress on America through the K. of C. He also made eloquent reference to the Fourth Degree exemplification, its splendid ritual and its patriotic appeal, and said he only wished that all citizens would see the magnificent exemplification of the Fourth Degree in May.

Next numbers during the evening were given by Joseph B. Lannan and John O'Brien, Jr. The meeting was brought to a close with the extra assembly singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

GOV. COX MAKES LEGION APPEAL

State's Chief Executive Urges
Veterans to Look at Promising Future

Legion "Strong Guaranty of Virile and Loyal Citizenship," He Says

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, April 11.—Unqualified endorsement of the American Legion and a strong appeal to ex-service men of Massachusetts to "take on" for another year with that organization is contained in a statement prepared and issued today by Gov. Cox.

GOV. CHANNING H. COX

The statement follows: "The Massachusetts department of the American Legion is making an earnest and concerted endeavor to increase its membership, and seeks the aid of our citizens generally in accomplishing that commendable result."

"The Grand Army of the Republic and the United Spanish War Veterans have been mighty forces in arousing and sustaining patriotism. When the splendid work which these organizations have done for better citizenship is reviewed a vision is unfolded of what the American Legion may mean in the future. Men who have served their country in times of peace, and have been stalwart defenders of our institutions against attack from within."

"The American Legion, under wise and patriotic leadership, with a supporting large membership, is a strong guaranty of a virile and loyal citizenship. If this organization is to be of largest service, then it must be strong in membership."

"In the whole country only about 5 million have the right to seek membership in the Legion. That right has been won by devoted service to the country during its time of greatest need. Membership in the American Legion gives a man a distinction which no material success can confer."

"All good citizens have a direct interest in strengthening the Legion. They have a chance to help themselves and to insure the permanence of all that they hold dear by aiding the Legion in adding to its membership."

"The Legion has asked the general public for aid. Let us demonstrate that we appreciate the response which these men made to their country, and now answer their call and do whatever is possible for them. In our endeavor to aid in this direction, we shall surely find that we are serving our country."

Trunk Sewer From Lowell to the Sea

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS WILL RAISE $2000 FOR TRACK FUND

Rally in High School Assembly Hall This Morning—
Proposed Cinder Path at Alumni Field Will Cost $3000—Alumni Association Will Contribute $1000

Twenty-one hundred and 49 boys and girls, filling Lowell high school assembly hall at 8.15 o'clock this morning, were aroused to a pitch of intense enthusiasm when they were asked to take part in a special "Pupils' Drive" to raise the sum of $2000 as a contribution toward a three-thousand dollar fund for the purpose of building a cinder track at Alumni field.

Headmaster Henry H. Harris presided at the rally, which was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of its kind ever held in the assembly hall. Nearly every high school pupil of both sexes was there, eager to participate in the campaign and showing their exuberance repeatedly when the question at hand was discussed and pupils asked for earnest support.

The proposed cinder path at Alumni field will cost about $3000. The pupils have been asked, and have agreed, to raise $2000 by personal endeavors and not solicitation. The school alumni association promises to contribute the other thousand dollars.

Today's rally was a record-breaker. Headmaster Henry H. Harris was delighted with the outpouring of sentiment and the ready assurances rendered by the pupils all when they

TRUNK SEWER TO SEA PROJECT IS RECOMMENDED TO LEGISLATURE

Would Cost $10,000,000 for Construction and $173,500 Annually for Maintenance, is Estimate—Assessment Plan Recommended to Care for Cost

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, April 11.—Construction of a trunk sewer, from a point just below the confluence of the Concord and Merrimack rivers in Lowell, to a point in the ocean off Plum Island, is recommended by the state department, in a report submitted to the legislature today, as the best means for improving the sanitary condition of the Merrimack river.

The cost of the project outlined by the department is estimated at $10,000,000 for construction, with an annual outlay of $173,500 for maintenance. The department states that separate sewerage disposal works in certain of the cities and towns in the Merrimack valley adequate to handle all of the sewage, might be constructed for $2,700,000, but this would entail an annual maintenance charge of $300,000, which would probably be increased if proper reserves were laid aside for renewals or obsolescence.

Thought Most Economical
Because the cost figures indicate that the treatment plant would, at the end of a few years, have cost more than the trunk sewer plan, and because the latter is deemed better in every way.

CALLS ON SENATE TO MAINTAIN CONSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL RIGHTS

Pres. Coolidge Says Employment of Heney as Prosecutor is in Conflict With Law—May Throw Government Into Disorder

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Coolidge in a message to the senate today advised that body to maintain its "constitutional and legal rights" in conducting investigations.

The message, couched in direct language, was occasioned by the action of the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau in employing Francis J. Heney of California, as special prosecutor at the instance of Senator Couzens, Michigan, a republican member of the committee.

The president supplemented his message with a letter from Secretary Mellon, in which Mr. Mellon declared that should "unnecessary interference" with the proper exercise of his duty be continued, "neither I nor any other man of character, can longer take responsibility for the treasury."

Employment of Heney was declared by the president to be in conflict with law and a procedure likely to throw the government into disorder.

"It is time that we return to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land," the president said. "The state of the union requires the immediate adoption of such a course."

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, April 11.—Through the efforts of Rep. Charles B. Slowey of Lowell an amendment was made in the house today to the senate bill providing for an investigation of monthly commutation tickets by the department of public utilities, providing that the result of such investigation shall be submitted to the legislature in report form not later than May 15 of the current year.

Before the Slowey amendment was passed the bill did not designate when the report of the public utilities department should be submitted.

The amendment stipulating the date of report is of great interest in Lowell, where there is in the neighborhood of 1500 commuters to and from Boston.

The amendment was opposed vigorously by Mr. Shattuck of Boston, chairman of the ways and means committee and by Rep. Victor F. Lowell, but sufficient votes were secured by Mr. Slowey to pass it.

Brother of Mavrakes Tells Story of Cafe Fight and Stabbing

While Theodore Panzes, aged 33, this afternoon was sitting in his cell in the Tombs prison, New York city, awaiting trial on a charge of manslaughter, the body of James Mavrakes, 23, formerly of 55 Common street, Lowell, was consigned to its final resting place in the Edison cemetery—the aftermath of a stabbing affray in a metropolitan cafe last Monday evening.

Details of the vicious assault on the former Lowell youth were vividly described this morning by George Mavrakes, a brother of the victim, who accompanied the dead body to this city before the sun rose this morning. George was in New York, although not

Building to Be Renovated and Used as Summer Church for Lake Mascuppic Campers—Theatre Was Erected in 1893—Sale by Harry C. Kittredge

The old Lakeview theatre, familiar to hundreds of Lowell pleasure-seekers and situated on the prominence to the south of the Lowell-Nashua car line overlooking beautiful Lake Mascuppic, has been sold to Cardinal O'Connell in the interests of the Catholic archdiocese of Boston, by Harry C. Kittredge, well-known proprietor of various establishments at the famous summer resort.

Rev. Michael C. Gilbride, pastor of St. Mary's church in Collinsville, has been designated to take charge of the newly acquired property and stated this morning that the building will undergo extensive alterations and will be used as a summer church for campers in the vicinity of Lake Mascuppic.

For the past three years, Sunday services have been conducted in the theatre under the auspices of the Collinsville church.

The transfer of this historic piece of property will recall to the minds of hundreds of local people the olden days when such theatrical stars as George Cohan performed on the stage out there. The building was erected for theatre purposes in 1893 and until a few years ago, afternoon and evening performances were daily occurrences. Vaudeville and drama were presented with much success and moving pictures later took their place in the enclosure. Theatrical ventures were suspended some years ago and never resumed.

SLAYER ELECTROCUTED BAKER BEFORE LEGION

Viandante Had Twice Attempted to End Own Life While in Sing Sing

OSSENING, N. Y., April 11.—Having twice attempted to end his own life and after threatening the life of Father William Cashin, the prison chaplain, Anthony Viandante, condemned wife slayer, was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last night.

An unusually large number of guards surrounded the condemned man as he was led to the chair, as it was feared he might attempt some further violence. He walked peacefully from the death cell, however, and made no demonstration when strapped to the chair. Viandante was convicted of killing his wife in Manlius, N. Y., a year and a half ago, after he had accused her of unfaithfulness.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED AT DOVER ARRAIGNED

DOVER, N. H., April 11.—A large but orderly crowd waited outside the courthouse here today as a hearing was begun in the cases of the four men arrested Wednesday night charged with disturbances connected with the strike of Pacific mill employees.

Best Easley, of Lawrence, Mass., an organizer of the One Big Union, Fred E. Seal of Lawrence, and Charles Lucas and James Hughes of Dover were arrested when the police dispersed a crowd before the house of Mill Agent H. A. Newton. Popular demonstrations became so threatening that extra police, armed with sidearms and machine guns were summoned yesterday from Nashua and Haverhill.

These and the local police were on duty today inside and outside the courthouse, but they found little to do and neither the side arms nor machine guns were displayed. About 30 witnesses were to be heard.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Eleanor Pope of Larch Street was last evening (April 10) a pretty miscellaneous shower by her friends at the home of Mrs. Richard Foley in Woodward Avenue. Miss Pope opened her many gifts beneath a hall of roses, while the room was prettily decorated in blue and white. A comedy sketch, entitled "The Bride and Groom," was given by Miss Margaret Swift and Miss Maude Gagnon, bride and bridegroom, respectively. Mrs. Archie Willett and Mrs. Richard Foley entertained with specially numbers, while Miss Rita Handley gave a solo dancing fantasy. A buffet luncheon was served by Miss Foley, assisted by Mrs. Handley. Following the luncheon the guests departed, wishing Miss Pope, who is to become the bride of Mr. Christopher Place on Easter Monday, much success in coming years.

Ex-War Secretary Says Wilson Never Interfered in Promotion of Officers

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 11.—Declaring that Woodrow Wilson never interfered in the promotion of army officers, Newton D. Baker, in an American Legion post address last night said that Major General James G. Harbord was the only one promoted on the direct order of the former president.

"He left the promotions entirely in the hands of the war department," the former secretary said. "But after Belknap Wood, in which Harbord displayed such gallantry at the head of his column, I prepared a list of promotions."

"Be sure to put my name on the list," the president told me."

GOV. GEN. WOOD DENIES HE PLANNED TO RESIGN

MANILA, April 11 (By the Associated Press).—Reports coming from the United States that he contemplated resigning were denied emphatically by Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood today. He said:

"Nonsense! I've given no thought to it. I'm here for the purpose of carrying out the policy of the home government. I stand squarely behind the policy outlined by President Coolidge in his letter of March 5 to Speaker Rogers."

In a letter to Manuel Roxas, chairman of the Philippine Independence mission, President Coolidge on March 6 stated in his opinion that the time was not ripe for separation of the Philippines from the United States.

LEADERS BUSY ON TAX
REDUCTION BILL

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Party leaders in the senate finance committee were busy today preparing reports on the tax reduction bill which will be submitted tomorrow or Monday and will form the basis of the contest expected to begin next week on the floor.

The main controversy will center on the income tax rates. Republicans of the finance committee voted the Mellon rates into the bill and democrats under the leadership of Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking democrat on the committee have advanced a sub-schedule calling for lower normal and higher surtax rates. The committee will resume consideration of the soldier bonus bill tomorrow with republicans supporting the measure adopted by the house providing for 20 year endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to veterans entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credit.

Assailant Arrested

In his brother's company, when the deed was enacted. He was at the bedside when James passed away, however, and with New York detectives, he heard his younger brother tell of Panzer approaching him unexpectedly while he was leaning against a post in a cafe at the corner of 25th street and 8th avenue, and plunging a knife into his abdomen. He died two days later.

James Mavrazes, well known in the local Greek community, left this city to seek employment in New York about two months ago. He was formerly employed in the Logans shoe factory here. Failing to find a position in the big city, he secured transportation to Florida on a coastwise steamer. He remained in the south only a short time, returning to New York last Monday morning.

According to the story told by his brother today, James joined in a reunion with a group of friends that same evening, and was enjoying himself in the cafe when Panzer, unknown to him at the time, interfered with the program. James and the other members of the party resented the intrusion with the result that an argument followed. In the exchange of blows, the Lowell youth received an eye bruise and discontinued the brawl. He went to a hotel, and after treating the injured member, went back to join his friends. He lighted a cigar and was standing against a post in the cafe when Panzer renewed the argument. Before Mavrazes could offer resistance, he was dealt a severe blow in the stomach with a knife and fell to the floor. Panzer made a hasty exit, but was apprehended by a policeman a short distance away. He later was identified by Mavrazes as his assailant and was locked up in the "booms" pending the outcome of his victim's injuries. Upon the death of the latter, Panzer was charged with manslaughter. No trace of the death weapon has been found.

Besides his mother, Mrs. Helen (Vires) Mavrazes, and his brother, George, deceased, he is survived by five sisters and one other brother, all of this city.

WOOLEN CO. MILL CUTS
ITS WORK SCHEDULE

The Ray State mills of the American Woolen Co., employing about 350 hands at the present time, have gone on a three-day week schedule. This mill was running full up to last week and is devoted to the manufacture of women's wear, cloackings and worsteds. The mill has 26 sets of cards, 115 broad looms and 11,150 spindles. The normal employment is 700 persons.

Saco-Lowell shops, manufacturers of textile machinery, and the Shaw-Hosier concern have further curtailed in some departments. In Lawrence the Everett mill which has been completely closed down for some time, has started again on a 3-day week schedule. In the Pacific there the cotton cloth and bleached goods departments are running full time but the bleaching and print works are on three days.

Rivers Cause Closings
Word today from Winchester brought the news that swollen streams have caused shutdowns in many manufacturing plants in that section. High water in the Miller, Contoocook, Manchester and Nashua rivers caused the closing of several textile factories today. The Slater mill, South Village mill and Chase plants of the American Woolen Co., in Webster, were compelled to close because of water in their main pits. The water poured into the boiler room of the Eagle Lake Co. mill at Jefferson, causing several hundred dollars damage. At Pittsburg several departments at the Parkhill mill were closed on account of high water. Officials of the Hamilton Woolen Co., of Southbridge, are taking every precaution to prevent the flooding of their plant.

The Hopewell Mfg. Co. of Milford, was also compelled to close and the Lanxester mills of Clinton, suffered severely when the Nashua river overtopped its banks.

HOWEVER COMMA—

BY MAURICE HENRI
NEW YORK, April 11.—Every once in a while a motion picture is produced that revives one's faith in the screen. Let us explain. We always have insisted that movies are just as much an art as the legitimate stage. Many films are produced that are about as artistic as a traveling carnival, but an entire profession should not be condemned because of them. An exceptional picture often comes in unheralded. It slips in unnoticed. And such a picture is "The Enchanted Cottage," featuring Richard Barthelmess and May McAvoy.

The picture places John Robertson in a class by himself as a director. Robertson is a true artist, and his inimitable work shows plainly in "The Enchanted Cottage."

We attended a pre-release showing of this picture the other day in the Ritz-Carlton hotel. Never have we seen a movie that throbs with life as this one does. Barthelmess and Miss McAvoy project their thoughts from the screen; they are living, breathing human beings, not silent shadows.

For those not familiar with the picture, suffice it to say that "The Enchanted Cottage" tells the story of a crippled ex-soldier and an extremely homely girl, who fall in love with each other.

So great is their love that neither can see the ugliness of the other. Only towards the end of the film do Mr. Barthelmess and Miss McAvoy appear without makeup. Miss McAvoy's make-up is astonishing. We never believed a beautiful girl could make herself so ugly.

When, several months ago, we journeyed to the studio to watch Mr. Robertson film "The Enchanted Cottage," we noticed how the man works. Like many other directors we know, Robertson puts his whole soul in his art. He is ably helped by his wife, Josephine Lovett, who writes the continuity. Together they worked in their world of make-believe.

"The Enchanted Cottage" will not thrill you if you prefer sex plays. It will not make a dent in your interest if you like spectacles. But if you are satisfied with a simple tale, told in a human, sympathetic way, then the picture will make an impression it will take years to wear away. It is another "Miracle Man."

John Barrymore, in "Beau Brummel," attracts a tremendous business at the Strand, and the film is being held over. We have one objection to "Beau Brummel," and that is not with Barrymore. Warner Brothers, who produced the picture, apparently are not overly fond of spending money. In one scene, the Prince of Wales is supposed to be strolling on the Mall, famous London street. We didn't recognize the park in the picture, but it looked suspiciously like an ordinary municipal park in Los Angeles. Almost any other producer would have built a reproduction of the Mall, to carry out the illusion. We are thrown from the period of George III, to the modern day, and it comes somewhat as a jolt.

Weekly Scandal

A high compliment has been paid the movie, "Anna Christie." Board of censors of Englewood, N. J., have barred it.

George Ade threatens to write a book. "Ha Ha."

"The Green Day Tree" (Stokes) promises to be the greatest spring seller of that publisher. . . . Oliver Morosco in training to be acrobat in play he will produce in June. . . . There should be a constitutional amendment compelling publishers to cut the leaves of books. . . .

"Three Weeks" proved a good movie, well worth seeing. This young bridge person has promise. . . . J. W. Griffith is going to Rome to make movies. Fairbanks, Pickford and Griffith will remain with United Artists. Chaplin has eight months to go with them on present contract. . . . "Covered Wagon" closes at Criterion May 3. Mary Pickford's "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" opens there May 5. In two days outside of theatre will be transformed into castle, according to advance notice.

CARE OF CARPET
After sweeping, it is a good plan to dust the carpet by going over it with a cloth, wrung very dry out of clear water, to which a little ammonia has been added.

PROBERS VISIT CITY HOSPITAL

Isolation Institution Superintendent on Witness Stand for Two Full Hours

Proud of Low Per Capita Cost—Has Sympathy for Discontented Patients

The city council committee investigating the isolation hospital visited that institution yesterday afternoon. Dr. Foster A. Smith, superintendent, was subjected to two hours of questioning under oath concerning affidavits alleging misconduct of the institution and the committee made a trip of inspection through the place. The hearing got underway at about 3 o'clock with Councilor Daly in the chair. Others present in their official capacity were Councilors Fitzgerald, Chretien, McPadden and Stearns, with J. J. Hennessy as counsel.

Dr. Smith was asked to make statements concerning Peter Gavin, Fred Welch, Frank McCuskey, George Campbell, and John J. Lyons who made affidavits complaining of the treatment accorded them there and also regarding Miss Helene Hooper, a nurse, another complainant. Dr. Smith characterized most of the men as malcontents, said he had always and still has the greatest sympathy for them because their continued ill health has made them chronic kickers and agitators, and further said that he thought the feelings of bitterness prompting them were caused mostly by the moroseness common in cases of long confinement because of a wasting illness.

Thinks Nurse to be Discharged

Miss Hooper, he said, is an incompetent nurse secured in time of need through an agency. He further added that he had some time ago recommended to the board of health, which has sole power of discharge, that her services be dispensed with.

Pressed for a reason why she had not been discharged, the superintendent intimated that the board, as he understands it, did not desire to discharge her while the investigation is underway as it might be construed as an attempt to split her away and hamper or hinder the investigation. He admitted frankly that he believes the board of health will concur in his recommendation and discharge her once the investigation is completed.

Asked as to the quality of eggs given inmates, the superintendent stated it has been the general policy to buy strictly fresh eggs from nearby henneries, paying always the top market price. In regard to liquor at the institution, the doctor said he has liquor on hand secured free of charge, except for payment of the tax, from federal authorities. Every teaspoonful is accounted for, he added. At the close of the investigation the councilors inspected the office records and the manner of keeping them, finding the office to be conducted under a modern system.

Taking up the individual affidavits of complaining inmates, Dr. Smith explained the case of each man as he was named by Chairman Daly.

One Complainant Would Retract

Councilor McPadden and Councilor Stearns joined in the questioning at times, the former regarding sanitation and the duties of orderlies at the institution and the latter most particularly with reference to Miss Hooper and to the per capita cost of conducting the place as compared with other institutions of a similar size and scope.

Regarding the affidavit of Frank McCuskey, the superintendent said that McCuskey had since expressed a desire to retract his statements, saying they were made in moment of excitement when he was approached by others who asked him to join in complaints. Mr. Daly asked who secured the retraction and Dr. Smith said that while he is not certain what member of the board of health was approached by McCuskey he is quite certain the information was volunteered to Fisher Pearson by the patient.

Asked if he had enough nurses at the hospital, the superintendent said that in the interests of efficiency two more should be added. He explained that the use of a contagious ward in addition to the tuberculosis wards made more nurses almost imperative when there are contagious cases on hand in any great number.

His is 24-Hour Job

Asked as to his duty hours, the superintendent said his is a 24-hour job and that he is at the hospital every night and within call throughout the day. On Saturday nights it is his custom to have dinner at the Highland club, he added. When he is absent from the hospital his wife, a trained graduate nurse, is in charge. If both should be away, a head nurse is designated as in charge.

In such cases he is always within call, he said, or else he notifies the board of health and a doctor is assigned to the institution by them during his temporary absence. This happens seldom except during his annual vacation period, he added. Speaking of the per capita cost of conducting the institution, the doctor said he is proud of the fact that it is so low. He said that in comparison the cost has been quoted as higher than other cities, but explained that he figures the per capita cost on gross expenditures while Lawrence figures on net expenditures.

Figuring on the same basis between the two, his institution makes a much better showing than Lawrence, he maintained, and is in fact so far ahead of the municipal hospital that it is comparable with the best of county hospitals throughout the state. Figures meant to prove his contention was admitted to the record. Among other cities with which the local hospital was compared have no contagious ward, an expensive adjunct, he said, but are admitting only tuberculosis cases.

Doctor Over 20 Years

Asked how long he had been a physician, the doctor replied he commenced practice in this state over twenty-three years ago and has served on the staffs of the City and Corporation hospitals here for a great part of his professional career.

Asked if Mayor Donovan had ever called him into consultation regarding the cost of maintenance at the hospital, the superintendent replied in the negative. He said he had talked with the mayor and his secretary, Mr. Glasheen, relative to last year's budget, and it was necessary to go back later for more money, he added. That was his only talk with the mayor regarding the financial conduct of the place, he said. Asked if he thought the hospital could continue to function, and do so properly, on a smaller appropriation, he replied in the negative.

Dr. Smith was excused from further testimony. Mrs. Smith, who was ready for call, was informed she would not be needed. The inspection tour of the building then started and the committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

Has Your Husband Got Indigestion?

Nothing creates domestic discord quicker than an attack of indigestion, and nothing gets rid of indigestion quicker than Blaud's Magnesia. No man can be sweet tempered, good natured or even fair minded when his stomach is constantly sick, sour, gassy, and upset with after-eating distress. If your husband has stomach trouble neither you nor your children will be happy until he has a supply of Blaud's Magnesia (either powder or tablets) constantly on hand. A teaspoonful of powder or two tablets taken in a little water after meals will instantly neutralize the acids in his stomach that are causing his trouble and he can enjoy his meals with no more fear of indigestion. Blaud's Magnesia is the special form of magnesium used by thousands to neutralize stomach acidity and quickly overcome indigestion—do not confuse with Milk Carbonate, Bile or Citrate of Magnesia. Insist on Blaud's. Its action is safe, prompt and sure and it can be taken at small cost from any reliable drug store.—Adv.

THE STRAND
There are a number of outstanding features in "The Unknown Purple," now playing at The Strand. One of them is the remarkable manner in which the ray of purple light about which much of the mystery and thrills of the story revolves has been handled. This ray of light is the discovery of an inventive genius and the possessor of it has the power to make himself invisible to the human eye. The story concerns the justified revenge by a man whose wife betrayed him, and who with the power to make himself invisible, comes back from prison, to which he was unjustly sentenced, to pay back his debt of revenge.

Herbert Rawlinson is most entertaining as an East Side policeman, "Jack O' Clubs" and the comedy and Weekly are also good.

over the industrial group which wields such important influence in the determination of any German reparations policy. Interest centers in the policy to be followed with regard to his manifold business interests, the main details of which were always a matter of personal concern with him, and which he continued to supervise until the last.

BOASTED HE NEVER SAW EX-KAISER

Hugo Stinnes was spoken of in continental Europe as the German who owned everything in sight, and from the peculiar pleasure he found in confiding the size of his fortune to all who would listen, the details of his vast industrial enterprises, and the extent of his mining, shipping and newspaper holdings were never left very much in doubt.

In addition to owning outright a score or more of the largest hotels in Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen, Stinnes shared control of the iron and coal industry of Germany with his friend, August Thyssen, and a few others, and occupied a dominating position in the entire island navigation of that country. He also directed several big ocean shipping concerns, owned most of the potato deposits of Central Europe, and in 1920 was reported to have bought 60 newspapers, as well as several paper mills and pulp factories.

Before the war Stinnes' fortune was estimated at $3,000,000 marks, which, according to competent calculations, increased during the war and the revolution to more than 1,000,000,000 marks.

Although Stinnes proved himself to be perhaps the greatest industrial organizer Germany ever produced, he was never graduated so to speak, from the working class. He had the appearance and bearing of a worker, and could go about in the clothes of a foreman or a miner without attracting attention. He was once described as like a piece of coal wandering about among his own coal mines.

His external appearance was devoid of pose, and he seemed heavy and solid. His massive head was set upon a stocky trunk. His black hair was cropped close, his face was pale and expansive; his nose was decidedly hooked, his eyes heavily underlined, and his beard as black as coal. A German newspaper became popular over night by calling him the "Assyrian King."

Had Passion for Toys
Novelties and toys were passion with Stinnes. He would be captivated in the street by the sight of a pedler's pack, and if he discovered a new kind of fountain pen or safety razor among the man's wares his excitement was almost boundless.

Stinnes was a person of few words, except when asked to discuss his financial affairs, and then he was verbose to a degree that tried the patience of his auditors.

He once stated to a French interviewer that he was the "richest man in the world"; that he owned all Germany, and expected in time to possess Austria and perhaps Hungary. "They can't get along without me," he remarked with tragic gravity, then added reflectively, "neither can England."

He delighted in producing a huge bank roll, inviting inspection of its size, then restoring it to his pocket with the proud revelation: "All mine."

When he passed a newspaper office he would remark that it was all his.

Proud of Big Fortune
A genial character, Stinnes displayed irascibility only when the size of his fortune was disputed. He had one clinging argument. He would take doubters to one of his hotels and feast them royally.

"Eat what you like," he would say. "The place is all mine."

The man who himself took no delight in food, had no ear for music, never read books, saw nothing interesting in nature and seldom was seen

I have been asked, oh, so many times, how I do the volume of business. The answer is simple. I have, what I believe, the largest stock of woollens of any tailoring store in New England. I am a jobber as well as a retailer, selling the small tailor plus 10 per cent mill discount. I own my merchandise at the low market. I operate my own workshops. I have plain fixtures. No dovetailed floorwalkers. I have tremendous spot cash buying power. I do a strictly cash business—no credit losses for you to share. I sell from weaver to wearer. I am a wholesale tailor—not an agent—and the greatest asset of all—I own my own building, and no gouging landlord can tell me the price I must pay for a given street floor space, and I am proud to say I have over 12,000 satisfied customers on my books.

"My business," he would say, "so entirely occupies my mind that there is no room for anything else."

He owned his first evening suit in 1917 and was persuaded to buy it by Albert Ballin, creator of the Hamburg-American line. Before that he always appeared at dinners and banquets in what he termed his working clothes. He was seldom asked to speak in public, for he invariably drifted into a throng against the aristocracy, which he hated with all the fire of his complex nature.

Despised "High Brow"

His only heroes were men who started with nothing and amassed fortunes.

"Look at those high-brows," he would say. "What did they ever do for Germany? They lost the war for us, yet see the aid they give themselves. I could buy them all up and never miss the money."

This was a favorite extract from the heart of his socialist beliefs.

Yet Stinnes himself did not start with nothing. He belonged to an eminent Jewish family long in commerce, and reaped substantial aid from his father after completing his studies in a technical school. He was born Feb. 12, 1870, and from earliest boyhood was trained in the principles of commerce and trade.

When the World War broke over Europe, Stinnes was transacting some business in Austria. He read Austria's ultimatum to Serbia and instantly recognized it as war. He hurried to his Munich home, spent 14 hours in the telephone cell of his private apartment, and when he emerged, all his enterprises were on a war basis.

Politically, Stinnes was an idol of the German People's party, formerly the National Liberals, which he was said to have financed after the revolution. During the inter-allied discussions on the German indemnity at Spa in the summer of 1920, Stinnes' defiant stand as a National Liberal was blamed for the failure to come to immediate terms. It was at this conference, when taken to task for his arrogant attitude, that he electrified the assembly with the statement:

"I have not come here for the purpose of being polite."

Didn't Come to Be Polite

In the years that followed, however, he became more pacific and urged the German people to adopt a policy of work and production, which he declared was the only salvation for the war-torn nation.

The most human side of Stinnes seemed to be domestic.

He would spend hours in the company of his children, fashioning new toys for them and mending old ones, or searching the stores of Muehlstein for novelties. When residing in Berlin, Stinnes and his little girl would go in the afternoon to the Zoo, and there the calculating magnate would temper his voice with a note of sadness and tell over and over again about the poor lion that had to be killed during the war because food was so scarce.

The industrial prince of Germany cared nothing for luxury, and had no personal extravagance. He owned several motor cars, but usually walked or rode in a trolley car. He was often seen running through the streets of Berlin like a schoolboy, but no one more than glanced at him, for all knew Stinnes and his eccentricities.

It was his presence which required at one of the mines, he might be seen plodding along the street with a group of blackened miners, or else clinging to a strap in a street car surrounded by his workers, who treated him as one of their number.

Hugo Stinnes had two favorite haunts. One was that he could buy anyone in Central Europe "without releasing the money," and the other that he never had seen the former German emperor, and wouldn't have turned his head to look at him on the street.

FOR 30 SPEED BOATS

Program for Expansion of Coast Guard to Fight Rum Runners Started

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The administration program for expansion of the coast guard to fight rum runners was started on its way today with the opening of bids for construction of 20 speed boats, the first of a flotilla of several hundred craft to be added under the recent appropriation of $14,000,000. Officials believe the new craft will cost around $7000 each.

The next step after contracting for the speed boats, will be the receiving of bids for 175 cutters.

Designs for the speed boats call for trial speeds of about 42 knots or an ability to overhaul any rum running craft with which the guard has come in contact, thus far in its chase of rum smugglers.

In addition to the $14,000,000 which will be used for the speed boats and cutters and for additional personnel, the recent appropriation provides that the guard will receive 20 destroyers and two mine sweepers from the navy.

SHIP WRECK MENACE TO NAVIGATION

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 11.—A wrecked vessel believed to be the British schooner Maid of France, eight days overdue from the Barbadoes, was reported a menace to navigation off the coast. In a wireless message picked up here last night from an unidentified steamship, two bodies were reported floating nearby.

The resolution was introduced by the Boston & Maine minority stockholders' protective association.

KING AND QUEEN OF RUMANIA HONORED

PARIS, April 11.—(By the Associated Press) There is an inclination in diplomatic circles to interpret the toast proposed by President Millerand at the dinner given King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania last evening as indicating that there is an important political phase to the visit of the Rumanian sovereigns. The president, after recalling the intimate relations of the two countries, said:

"Also I am certain to respond to the desires of our countries in expressing the wish that the relations, so ancient and so close that unites them be more and more strengthened."

President Millerand and King Ferdinand both referred to the guarantee pact signed with the allies in harmony with the idea of the League of Nations.

ATTEMPT TO BURN SCHOOL

BROCKTON, April 11.—Police and fire officials are today investigating an attempt to set a fire in the Ellis Brett school, Thursday evening. Neighbors declare they saw boys in the rear of the school building. When the firemen arrived they found kerosene and paper.

BARTHOU CONFERS WITH PREMIER POINCARE

PARIS, April 11.—Louis Barthou, president of the reparations commission, was received by Premier Poincare this morning.

"Exchange Soviet"

"An exchange soviet" is what the Paris Midi dubs the transfer council of five proposed by Brigadier General

Dawes and his fellow reparations experts. It declares the scheme is very interesting but also very disquieting because the president of the council "will be absolute dictator of European exchanges, endowed with power to grant or refuse the manna of credits to all the states creditors of Germany."

"Assisted by his council," the paper adds, "he will play a role analogous to the League of Nations representative, Dr. Zimmermann, in respect to Austria."

THIRTY LEARNED
IN MOTHERCRAFT

Are Graduated From Twelve
Weeks' Course Given by
Women's Club Workers

Mrs. Nathan Pulsifer and
Miss Harriet Cooper
Speak at Meeting

Thirty young women were yesterday afternoon awarded certificates after following a twelve weeks' course

In Mothercraft, sponsored by the Mothercraft and Child Welfare committee of the Middlesex Women's club, Mrs. David Dewar, chairman.

The graduation was held in Middlesex hall, the auditorium being filled to capacity by parents and friends of the young girls. The classes, which were held in the Middlesex club-rooms and the International Institute rooms, were taught by Miss Blanche Harriman, Mrs. Edward Sheridan and Miss Mary A. Borden.

The program opened with a short story told by Miss Cooper, treating of the necessity of proper care and treatment not only of babies but of all beings.

Mrs. Pulsifer, speaker

Mrs. Nathan Pulsifer, who talked on "American Ideals," emphasized the advantages offered by our country in its schools, its public institutions and its special branch classes. Mrs. Pulsifer congratulated the young ladies for their persistency in attending the classes, which were held in the evening, and wished them success in all work undertaken in consequence of the course followed.

Miss Hannah Norberg read her essay on the "Care of Baby," it proving a clear and interesting article on the proper care and nourishment of the child in its infancy and the proper vigilance for its welfare in growing years.

The graduates were the Misses Stella Sviderska, Mary Malszewski, Josephine Zych, Sophie Jermolowicz, Stella Szmyt, Stella Bukowelski, Emily Giesla, Blanche Malinowska, Helen Kuznek, Jeanette Alencicki, Eunice Conne, Dorothy G. Smith, Helen Sumner, Helen M. At the close of the exercises refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, composed of seven of the young lady graduates.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S

Some of the largest audiences ever successively recorded at the B. F. Keith theatre have been noted during the present week. The Midgel Review is the most unusual collection of little folk ever shown on one bill. It is a remarkable presentation, and it is, quite naturally, labelled "Alice in Toyland."

The surrounding bill is excellent, consisting of Ingles & Winchester; Jack Adams and Thompson Sisters; Masters & Grayce and H. & P. Beatz. The picture is "The Ladder Jinx."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The stock players give but three more performances of "Her Unborn Child," the attraction being staged by Langdon R. J. Rydyt this week. The next sale has been pleasing although a few good seats are still open for reservation and may be held by phoning 7097.

Charles McDonald, Miss Shirlee Deite, Joseph Flynn, Miss Vessie Parrott, Miss Elwyn Robinson, Miss Gladys Fernandez and Bertram Perry, all contribute well to the success of the show, which preaches a great lesson thought especially apropos for the Lenten season.

HILTO THEATRE

When it comes to speed, merriment and romance, the William Fox special, "Six Cylinder Love," now showing at the Hilto theatre, breaks every record. Cupid is perched on the radiator. Imps of gathering joy hop around the steering wheel. Ernest Truax, who created the role in the original stage production, that of the poor little husband, is seen in the same part, and he's a riot. Briefly, "Six Cylinder Love" tells about the story of a pair of newlewedds, who buy a second hand car and with it inherit a crowd of "Spunkers," who are nothing more than panemites. Whenever the machine goes they follow. "Six Cylinder Love" is a picture that will entertain all classes of people, because it concerns everyone who is an automobile owner, and that's about all of us.

"The Tents of Allah," with Monte Blue and Mary Alden, are the companion attractions.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Only a few more opportunities remain for Lowell people to see glorious

Gloria Swanson in "A Society Scandal," which will close its week's engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow evening. "A Society Scandal" was adapted from Alfred Sutor's "The Laughing Lady," in which Ethel Barrymore has been starring on the stage, but the story has been greatly changed. The locale has been altered from London to New York and Long Island and the action and characters have been jazzed up to date until this is by far the liveliest, most thoroughly modern and do Luxe production in which Miss Swanson has ever appeared.

There is an exceptionally attractive surrounding program, including a Will Rogers comedy, another comedy feature, the latest International News and the Boston Post price reel, "Your Hat and Mine."

SOPHIE BRANLAU

Allen McQuane, Irish tenor, who will sing in the Memorial Auditorium Easter Sunday night in a joint-recital with Sophie Branslau, Metropolitan contralto, was until quite recently Lieut. McQuane of the A.E.F. Nevertheless, he still has a war-torn spot in his heart for Ireland and all things Irish and his program will include numerous Irish numbers. Seats will go on sale tomorrow in Chalifoux's victrola department.

Need for Modern Switchboard
Installations in Public
Buildings is Seen

City Hall and Court House
Both Without "Crossroads
of Conversation"

One instance where Lowell has failed to keep abreast of the times is in the matter of private branch exchanges, or telephone switchboards. City hall, where one board with a male operator could handle the whole building efficiently, has 21 separate phones, all with a different number. The installation of a switchboard there with several trunk lines and just one number to remember would be of great benefit to the thousands having occasion to use them.

The water works has eight separate phones with different numbers. The school department has 26. In these modern times a switchboard is a real necessity. At city hall a switchboard could be installed in the city messengers' office to handle the various phones there. It might be feasible to install another in the office of the superintendent of schools and perhaps a third at the pumping station although the advisability of this last named is perhaps more open to debate. The old speaking tube system in the city messengers' office is proof positive that back in the days when the building was built there was need for a "crossroads of conversation." The need, many believe, is much greater today.

The Gorham street courthouse comes in the same category. Rental is paid on some lines that are used probably less than 15 days in a whole year yet there is no switchboard. You have to call different numbers to get the office of the registrar, the county treasurer or the district attorney.

In this matter the city fathers and county commissioners have not kept strides with the industrial plants of the city. Hardly a mill that has not a switchboard. A newspaper could not hardly get along without one.

K. OF C. DEPUTY SPEAKS FOR LEGION RAID

William C. Prout, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, and president of the Amateur Athletic union of the United States, took occasion during his visit to this city last night, to voice his approval of the drive now being conducted by the American Legion to increase its membership.

"I know of no finer body of men than the American Legion," he said, "and I know of no reason why every veteran should not be proud to claim membership in such a powerful organization. You can say for me that I respect every legionnaire. I am aware of the splendid work the organization is accomplishing and I sincerely hope that the present membership campaign will prove profitable."

Louis Watson, past state deputy of the K. of C. and present master of the fourth degree, K. of C., before leaving Lowell for Boston last night, said he was heartily in sympathy with the American Legion drive. He said:

Attempted Jail Delivery Frustrated—Tunnel Under Yard Discovered

THE DISTRICT COURT

It was Judge Knight who first came out strongly in favor of divorcing the local district court from the police station. Rep. Jewett has made a statement expressing his entire approval of this change as in line with the public policy applied in several cities of the state. He cites the fact that in Boston each district court serves an average of two or three police stations and even in Cambridge, a city about the same size as Lowell, there is one district court to serve two or three police stations.

There seems to be an impression in some quarters that there is little chance of obtaining strict justice when unfortunates are consigned to cells downstairs and taken upstairs merely to be sentenced. It is good policy to separate the district court from the police station in order that the court may not suffer in public esteem by the association. It is a good idea to maintain the dignity of the court as a separate and independent tribunal maintained for dispensing equal justice to all without fear or favor. It is gratifying to know that a new district court is now assured and that it is likely to be located in the downtown district.

HELP THE LEGION DRIVE

It would seem that the entire community is in sympathy with the drive of the Lowell Legion for increased membership. The Legion is recognized as a body of young men who served under the flag in the World war and whether overseas or in camp duty at home, matters not. There is no discrimination in regard to the character of the service. Every soldier served in the field assigned him.

At the time when so many radical elements are lifting their heads in this country representing various movements against the organic law of the nation, it is well to have as many as possible of the service men banded together for their mutual benefit and for upholding the patriotism that inspired them during the war and the principles for which they stood in that memorable struggle. The Legion boys deserve well of the community and the country and they can exert their highest power only through a large membership in the various posts.

BOODLING CONDEMNED

Senator Borah, in an able address, has endorsed the investigations now going on at Washington, although they are opposed by reactionary republican leaders as calculated to injure the party prospects in the coming election and to result in a loss of public confidence in the honesty and integrity of government officials in general. He declared his firm faith in the moral solvency of the United States and its government, and emphasized the fact that if evils creep into the administration, the system of government provides a remedy, and that it is through such investigations as are now being conducted at Washington that the proper remedy can be determined and applied.

The senator criticized very severely the vast expenditure of money used in elections, pointing to the fact that general elections had it that $15,000,000 was spent in the republican campaign of 1920. He held that while this estimate might be excessive, there was no doubt that the amount spent for political purposes was altogether too great. He referred particularly to the contributions to party funds made by the oil speculators as revealed in the recent hearings. In view of the fact that the republican party to a much greater extent than any other, relies upon such interests for campaign contributions, it is not surprising that these interests expect to be recompensed by the administration after election. That is really what was done for the oil interests in the leasing of the naval reserves to Sinclair et al. Other interests that had contributed largely were repaid by excessive tariff imposts which had proved injurious to the people of the country.

Senator Borah spoke in the interest of good government and honest administration when he favored the continuance of the investigations now in progress, until every guilty official stands convicted and meets a fitting punishment. It is very plain that the big business interests do not hand out large sums of money in any political party without expecting government favors in return. This is one of the crying evils of political campaigns as at present conducted. To overcome this state of affairs, William Jennings Bryan is in favor of a measure under which the government would pay the necessary expenses of candidates, but private interests would use money in support of their favorites, same as before and the evils now complained of would still exist to the injury of the government and the people.

JOHN DILLON'S ADVICE

Irish papers just to hand contain a glowing account of the observance of the sixth anniversary of the death of John Redmond, held at Westport on March 5. One of the leading features of the observance was the address of John Dillon, one of the oldest surviving leaders of the constitutional party. Mr. Dillon had been the colleague of Mr. Redmond for nearly forty years. He was engaged in fighting for the rights of Ireland before Redmond was heard of and he has continued ever since with little change in his policy, which was, to obtain freedom for Ireland by peaceful means if possible, or that failing, by physical force if the time came at which that could be waged successfully. In his address he voiced a complete vindication for Mr. Redmond and the policies he advocated, claiming that had those policies been adopted, Ireland would be in a better condition than she is today and there would be no talk of partition or of having one government in the north and another in the south. He disapproved of the proposal to have a boundary commission appointed, claiming that such a course would be another endorsement of the partition of Ireland which is undesirable and opposed to the aspirations of the Irish people.

In speaking of the general situation, he said: "The first task before the country is to unite the south and, having achieved union in southern Ireland, the next step would be to pursue the greater object of the union of all Ireland by such means as the treaty leaves open. I am convinced that all Ireland can be united by a wise policy, but it will take time and great patience, and that result would not be possible under the operation of a boundary commission that would emphasize the division of Ireland under two opposing governments.

This is sound doctrine and sound sense and it struck a responsive chord in the hearts of the people, the only ones who disregard such counsel being the irreconcilables, who are ready to wreck and destroy where they cannot rule by force of numbers.

SPRING CLEANING TIME

A national movement for cleaning up the unsightly backyards of cities has been started by the industrial division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. It is announced that the furthering of the plan for eliminating objectionable rubbish in the great industrial tracts of cities, as these tracts are traversed by passenger-carrying lines, will be made a feature of the coming three-day convention of specialists in industrial real estate of the United States and Canada.

Railroad executives have agreed to cooperate in this movement. Some sections of large railroad yards and properties are rankly neglected by the controlling corporations. In some railroad yard districts right here in Lowell, there are conditions bordering on the disgraceful, due to the presence of refuse dumps of various complaints, discarded railway implements and equipment and debris of other kinds that present an unsightly appearance and detract from the general appearance of a city's cleanliness in the eyes of travelers entering and passing through the city by the railroad lines.

Commercial associations and civic organizations in every city in the country are asked to take an active part in making the territories close to the railroad rights of way represent their cities fairly to the traveling public.

This commission puts the matter correctly when it declares that the exposure of piles of ashes, rubbish and junk "is no way to build up interest in the community on the part of passers through the city or town, who might become permanent residents under the influence of civic cleanliness emphasized by the removal of obnoxious eyesores."

AUTO FATALITIES

It is passing strange, but undeniably true, that in some cases the efforts made to stamp out an evil serves only to increase it. That has been the experience of Lowell in trying to lessen the number of auto fatalities. Unfortunately, the number of reckless or intoxicated drivers seems to be on the increase, and as a result the number of fatalities from such accidents has increased to an alarming extent. The finger squad and the police department are expected to stop this evil by strict enforcement of the laws.

The American Legion is interested only in the proper punishment of the reckless person. After the punishment is meted out in a legal manner, the legion would gladly escort him right back to the first out-going boat for Ber Paderland and give three cheers and Bon Voyage.

One government house that might be made to the entire satisfaction of all parties at the present time is the proposed lease of Annie Shanks to Henry Ford under the necessary federal batters and come-backs. Mr. Ford is not in the oil-digging business.

Now we know why J. Rufus Wallingford and Blackie Low never wanted to appear in the role of presidential cabinet officers.

Some of our best little boys must feel pretty cheap these days if they are reading any of the dispatches from Washington.

A Thought

A man's praises have very musical and charming accents in another's mouth, but very flat and untimely in his own.—Xenophon.

Quick Decision

An old Scotchman was threatened with blindness if he did not give up drinking. "Now, McTavish," said the doctor, "it's like this. You've either to stop the whiskey or lose your eye. Now, doctor," said McTavish, "I'm an old man now, an' I was thinkin' I had seen about everything worth seein'."

North Pole Assignment

To the newspaper man obstacles are all in the day's work. An Arctic explorer will spend a year preparing stores of pemmican, tanning dogs and having sleds and a thousand details arranged. Finally he is ready to start. Whereupon the editor calls a reporter. "I see Gazookus is going to make another bid for the pole." "Yes, sir," "Hire a taxicab and follow him."

Picking Married Men

A commercial traveler visiting a Glasgow restaurant made a not with the manager that he would pick out all the married men among the employees. Accordingly he stationed himself at the door as they returned from dinner, and mentioned all those whom he believed to be married. In almost every case he was right. "How do you do it?" asked the manager. "O, you do it," he replied, "by looking at the waiter's hands. The waiter, the married men wipe their feet on the mat; the single ones don't."

Cowardly Drummers

A couple of drummers were walking to a small town in a town district. They had heard stories of what happens to revenue officers and were somewhat thorough. At a turn of the road there burst into view a native with a couple of ugly dogs. He immediately began to yell: "Lie down and keep still." The drummers promptly stretched out flat on the muddy road. The mountain strode up and demanded: "What is the matter with you guys? Are you crazy?" "You told us to lie down and keep still," "I meant the dogs."

The Foxy Bellboy

Among the guests at a small hotel was a woman from a country district. The landlady noticed every night that she came downstairs and got a pitcher of water. One night he asked her why she did not ring the bell for the bellboy to bring the water to her. "No bell in your room, madam? Let me show you." He took the pitcher of water in his hand and escorted her to her room. Entering the apartment, he pointed out to her the knob of the doorbell. She gazed at it with wonder and then explained: "Is that a bell? Why, the bellboy told me that it was the fire-alarm signal, and that I must never touch it except in case of fire."

Glady in Her Garden

New Glady found her catkins, "O, how her heart even gladden. As each thrilling page she reads! The winter's hardly over, And the ground is cold and bare, But in her imagination She sees a garden there. She sees the flowers blooming In wonderful array. She sees herself a-spraying, To keep the bugs away. She almost smells the roses. So fragrant and so fair, And the hardy realizers That the ground is cold and bare.

The birds will soon be humming On every shrub and tree, And Glady in her garden. The neighbors soon will see. The life will be delightful To her, but now she'll quiver When duty calls upon her. To squish a fat and wormy. SOMERVILLE JOURNAL.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The students of the State Normal school will again have the opportunity to hear a series of lectures before the closing of school. The general topic, "Teaching Ideals to Youth in a Democracy," according to many topics, should be most beneficial to the students. Most of these lectures will be given at the regular lecture period for the school, which is Wednesday at 2:15 o'clock. All persons interested are invited to attend and some make it their duty to attend the lectures regularly. This series has been arranged in order to give the students of the Lowell Normal school a fuller comprehension of the opportunities offered through the public schools of inculcating in our future citizens the higher ideals of human life.

The graduation of the pupils of the Middlesex class of the International Institute, sponsored by the Middlesex Women's club which was held yesterday afternoon in Middlesex hall, was most interesting, as the pupils gave numerous illustrations in the care and nourishment of the child. The girls put much of their spare time into the studying of the art and were yesterday rewarded for their efforts when they were presented certificates of competency in the art of the proper treatment and care of children.

That it is the policy of the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway company to please the patrons who travel on the cars, was clearly shown on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings when Operator Dan Phoenix, trying to accommodate as many passengers as possible who were coming from the Auditorium, let them crowd in until the car could not hold another passenger. Two started on the trip to Christian hill. There was a question of how patrons were to get off at their stops. Some were at the very back end of the car and on the offer of Motorman Francis, readily got off from that end after he had accommodated the rest of the car. A crowd passenger made it his duty to inform the operator when the back door was to be opened by shouting, "Give us the back door, please," and the door was promptly opened. The patrons, glad to have such an accommodating operator, came promptly around to the front door of the car and paid their fares. Just a trace of co-operation very seldom found today.

One May Morning

Now the bright morning star, day's harbinger,
Comes dancing from the east, and leads with her
The flowery May, who from her green lap throws
The yellow crowslip and the pale primrose.
Hail, bounteous May, that doth inspire
Mirth, and youth, and warm desire!
Woods and groves are of thy dressing,
Hill and dale doth boast thy blessing.
Thus we salute thee with our early song,
And welcome thee, and wish thee long.

YARDMASTER IS FINED

New Haven Railroad Boss Pleads Guilty to Driving Auto While Drunk

A fine of $100 was imposed upon Friend W. Boora, a yardmaster for the New Haven railroad when he pleaded guilty before Judge Knight in district court today to driving an auto while drunk.

Antonia Maher, found by Motor Vehicle Inspector Loupre to have driven an auto without a license pleaded guilty and paid a $10 fine.

Adelard C. Dugas, held as a fugitive from justice for a Bathurst, N. B., concern by which he was employed as a collector, was bound over for two weeks.

Flora Dorsey of Moody street and Georgianna Richard, Worthen street, were arraigned on charges alleging neglect to provide for a destitute parent. A continuance to April 15 was allowed on request of counsel.

Then drunkenness offenders were released by the probation officer before the opening of court. Chas. C. Reilly, charged with assaulting a small girl on the South common, secured a week's continuance.

ALPHESSIMA DRAMATIC CLUB
The Alpessima Dramatic club of North Billerica will present "The Parish Priest," a three-act drama, in Thomas Talbot Memorial hall, North Billerica, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 30 and May 1, in aid of St. Andrew's church fund. Tickets are now being held in Matthew hall through the kindness of the organization. Mr. James H. Cannon, director of the club productions, is in charge of the play. Mr. Thomas J. Boone of Lowell is also assisting in the staging of the drama.

HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION
The regular monthly meeting of the Lowell General Hospital aid association was held yesterday afternoon in St. Anne's Parish house and a branch meeting was also held in North Chelmsford where a new association has been recently formed. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 13. The hospital is still in need of compresses.

Starting a Cleaner City drive, a start should be made somewhere. Perhaps no section of the city needs a spring cleaning more than does the North common, where the refuse, tin cans and other undesirable substances, dumped on the common when the snow was carted there this winter, make the common an unsightly picture to the passerby. If it is imperative that the snow be dumped there during the winter months, the city should clear away the debris as soon as the snow has melted.

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

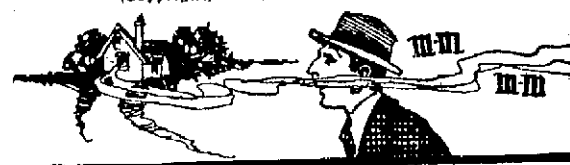

Cooking odors often tell us what our neighbor's going to eat. Fumes that come sometimes compel us to admit she's got a treat. Baked potatoes, corn and gratin, frying eggs and kidney stew. Kitchen smells that aren't forgotten: ones that sure appeal to you.

When you're hungry as the dickens, after working all day long, floating wafts of broiling chickens make the tummy feel all wrong. Appetites are peaky critters, calling on a man to eat, buckwheat cakes or sweet corn fritters: Boston baked beans or tender meat.

Funny how you speed your walking when a kitchen window's passed. And you hope, there's no use talking, that your supper bowl will last. Thank your nostrils for the pleasure that the smell of cooking gives. Thank your neighbor, in a measure, if the smell's from where he lives.

Yes, the odors from the kitchen, floating on the evening air, keep a fellow fairly itchin' for his supper table share. Cook away and folks won't mind it; gladly will the fumes be nosed. But, when you are cooking garlic, keep your kitchen window closed.

CLOSING OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR FAIR

Last evening was the closing night of the Christian Endeavor Fair which was conducted Wednesday and yesterday at the Y.M.C.A. The hall and adjoining rooms of the buildings were filled to capacity by the patrons who came for supper. Later in the evening the number was augmented by those who came to enjoy the entertainment.

Members of Spindle City Lodge, I. ANNUAL GYM EXERCISES
AT Y. W. C. A.

Solo numbers, group dances and various characteristic interpretations marked the annual gymnasium exercises given by the adult, junior, senior and intermediate classes of the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium school in the Y.W.C.A. gym last evening before a capacity audience.

The participants, dressed in the native costumes of the countries represented in the various dances, made colorful sketches as they gracefully executed their numbers.

The Kerry dance, in which the participants wore Kelly green and white costumes, won unlimited applause from the large audience.

The Fairy dance, by the junior members, was artistically given, the youngsters excellently interpreting their parts.

The drill, given by the Intermediate and the apparatus exhibition in which all classes participated, gave the pupils ample field in which to display their ability as agile, competent performers.

Miss Rita Sawyer and Miss Dorothy Ritchie accompanied the classes on the piano in the execution of the various numbers. Miss Mildred Macdonald, director of the gymnasium school, had charge of last evening's exhibition.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted. The one remedy to control these conditions and restore the system to normal, healthy condition is Lydia E. Will Raise Money for were asked to perform a highly important part in paying the bills for the new eluder mat.

Mr. Harris explained that the program called for pupils earning one dollar each by their own efforts and not by begging or borrowing the dollars. They can earn their ten dollars by home work, possibly, such as clearing away debris in and about homes, cleaning automobiles, darning clothes, taking out ashes and garbage, running errands, doing chores of one thing and another—anything at all that is legitimate and that represents actual toil on the part of the pupil endeavoring to earn the dollar desired from each one.

The headmaster, after more advice and vigorous suggestions, declared that the "Pupils Drive" ought to be most successful from the start, and he had absolute faith that it would be. As he closed, following another appeal for earnest work in the splendid cause that will be of benefit not only to the high school as an organization, but to the general public at large, he was roundly cheered by the two-thousand boys and girls present, and then the "Pupils Drive" received a round of applause.

The students will start at once on their quest for the dollars. Some of them already have time to earn money after school hours and will have no trouble in acquiring their dollars. Others may look for work to do, and it is safe to say that in this campaign, many citizens of Lowell will be happy to find something for the eager high school boys and girls to do to earn the dollars needed to fill the individual quotas.

The pupils are also allowed to raise dollars by getting new Alumni members, as well as soliciting dollars from alumni and women. This campaign is expected to be wide, for Lowell H. S. alumni have wandered in far fields during the past decade or two—many of them—and a little word of admonition to them may work wonders, some of the boys and girls agree. Another campaign that must not be overlooked, is sponsored for members of the Alumni association, who are out to obtain one new member apiece, thus bringing in more dollars. This is a feature that also calls for support which will be gladly furnished. The high school pupils' campaign closes two weeks from today—on April 25. That day will be called "Dollar Day" and it will be a lively day, for more dollars are to be collected in the "Annals" and Lowell high school pupils will be there on the collections beyond a doubt, from all indications revealed at this morning's exuberant rally in high school hall.

INTER-SECTIONAL
DRAWING CONTEST

The girls at Normal school were put through a final test in their ability.

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn. Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard tried it first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEMOROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonard tried it in 1000 cases with the unvarying record of success in 95 per cent, and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Each girl was given five minutes in which she should draw four animals or more on a given section of the blackboard. The girls were judged on the following things, arrangement of drawings, vigor of stroke, accuracy of anatomy of animals.

The girls who competed were:
Juniors—Section A—Misses Calvert, Cullinan, Carey, Blusham, Childs; Section B—Misses Langell, Hurdon, Evelyn, Tuckner, Flaherty; Section C—Misses O'Brien, Palmer, Perkins, Henry, Mooney; Section D—Misses Warren, Stott, Rosette, Regan, Tompkins.
Seniors—Section 1—Misses Dugdale, Delorme, Barjonson, Connelly, de Lisle; Section 2—Misses Mooney, Macdonald, Millett, McKee, McVay; Section 3—Misses Butler, Poland, Tierney, M. C. Sullivan, Ready, Zubrinski.

Section 2 of the senior class is out at the practice schools and could not enter into the contest.
The winning sections were Section 1 for the Juniors and Section 3 of the Seniors. Miss Jessie MacDonald's drawings were judged the best of the senior class. It is hoped that a contest will be run off between the winning teams of both classes.

Thirty-two persons here can prove it. For none of them would be alive today were it not for the kindness of two of their number to a dog.

PLUFFY AND THE COLLAR
AWARDED HER FOR HEROISM.

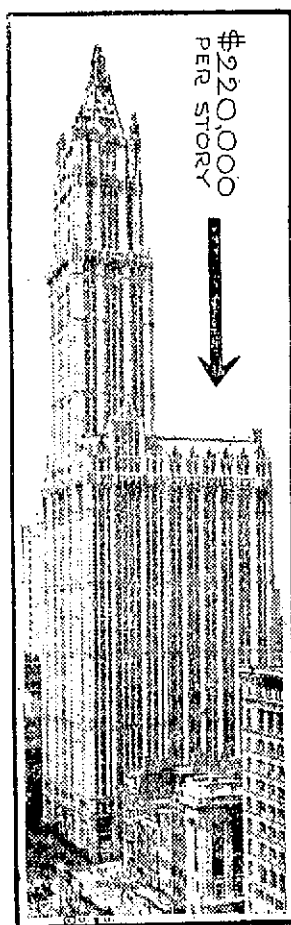

Frederick Donaldson's bed, scented trouble. She whined. But no one heard her.

So she leaped up on the bed and tugged away at her master, barking as loudly as she could. Finally she aroused him.

The two then ran through the smoke-filled halls, sounding the alarm. But flames soon cut off their escape and they were driven back to their rooms. There they joined Mrs. Donaldson on a narrow fire escape and the dog lay down quietly on the window ledge, as the man carried his wife down the escape.

"Pluffy knew that I would come back for her," says Donaldson. "She wouldn't budge from her narrow perch, even later in the morning, indicates rain."

though she could see the flames licking their way through our rooms.
"When I picked her up, she clung close and tried to make herself as light as she could. For she weighed close to 100 pounds and made some load down the ladders.
"But my prayers seemed to help me. Finally I reached the street in safety—and so did the other tenants.
"And all through the faithfulness of my dog."
She has been in the family eight years and was treated kindly all the time.
"And it was this kindness repaid," adds Donaldson, "that saved our lives."
For Pluffy's meritorious rescue, the New York Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has awarded her with a silver-mounted collar—the D.S.M. of dogdom.
And the collie expresses its appreciation with a kindly bark.

All Indians do not wear blankets. Mrs. George Beaulieu (above) is a member of the Osage tribe, wealthiest group of individuals in the world since discovery of oil on their Oklahoma lands. Mrs. Beaulieu's income annually from oil land is $13,100 and soon will be more. She is a graduate of an eastern finishing school and is an accomplished musician. Her father is Chief Wheeler.

FINISH STUDY OF DAWES REPORT

PATIS, April 11.—(By the Associated Press.) The members of the Dawes commission have made themselves fairly familiar with the recommendations embodied in the Dawes report and, although they have not finished their study of it, are ready for their first exchange of impressions at the unofficial meeting to be held in Chairman Bartholomew's office at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The first question to be decided is whether the Germans should be summoned for a hearing. After that the commission's attitude must be defined on the broader issues arising from the experts' conclusions.

CONSIDER MERCHANT MARINE ACT

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Consideration of section 23 of the merchant marine act was continued today by the house merchant marine committee with representatives of the interstate commerce commission present to testify in regard to its enforcement.

Desire of the committee to ascertain the attitude of the commission was heightened yesterday by a statement of Commissioner Thompson of the shipping board that the commission had called a meeting for next week to consider whether it might not have acted prematurely in fixing May 20, as the date for putting into effect the preferential railroad freight rates to shippers using American vessels, as authorized by the section.

SERIES OF LECTURES AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The opening of a fourth series of lectures to be given this academic year at the Lowell State Normal school on the general topic, "Teaching Ideals to Youth in a Democracy," is attracting very favorable attention. Most of the lectures are to be given on Wednesday afternoons, at 2:15 o'clock, in the school assembly hall.

Miss Helen D. Freeborn of the Washington Junior high school, Rochester, N. Y., opened the series last Wednesday afternoon, speaking on the subject "Ideals of Justice and Fair Play Through Student Participation."

It is announced that the literature club of the Normal school will provide a program entitled "The Love of Literature," next Wednesday afternoon. Miss Rose Leary, president of the club, will preside. There will be readings of Scotch poetry by Miss Catherine Graham, and of Southern dialect songs by Miss Edna Lawrence. "Ideals of Beauty in Art" will be the subject of Fred H. Daniels, director of art education, of Newton, on May 7. Dr. Payton Smith, state commissioner of education, will speak May 15 on "Ideals of Co-operative Service."

At a date to be announced later, Mrs. Winifred Hathaway, secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, of New York city, will lecture on "Ideals of Health Conservation." Ralph W. Baldwin, supervisor of music, Hartford, Conn., will speak June 4 on "Ideals of Beauty in Music."

The Normal school graduation address on June 18 will be delivered by Miss Mary McKimmon of the Pierce school, Brookline.

Daugherty on Train With Wheeler and Brookhart

Brookhart, and with J. J. McGraw, Tulsa, Okla., banker, on the stand. McGraw said he knew Harry M.

Daugherty "very well" and also knew the defendants in the Miller brothers' case in the Indian land frauds in Oklahoma. McGraw was formerly national committeeman from Oklahoma and he explained his understanding of the political affiliations of the members of the Miller brothers' group. He has "a general knowledge of the Miller land deals," the witness said, but had not been consulted by them in the deals, nor had he directly financed those transactions in any way through his banks. After indictments were returned the Millers "talked" to him, he said, and "he always advised them to contest the cases."

Asked if he knew of the report of Cox and Rankin, two investigators, who inquired into the case, the witness replied: "Oh, no, I don't think I ever met those men."

One of the Millers, after the Harding administration went in, came to him with a view to getting Daugherty's attention attracted to the Cox and Rankin report.

"I saw Attorney General Daugherty

once or twice in 1921," McGraw said. "We discussed the Cox and Rankin report and I asked him to go into it."

McGraw quoted Daugherty as saying: "I'm going to prosecute these cases; there is nothing else for me to do."

Daugherty also told him, he said, that he was thinking of employing a "prominent democratic lawyer in the case." McGraw recommended Judge Armstrong of Oklahoma, but Daugherty selected former United States Attorney Peck.

The witness told of a conversation with Senator Harold of Oklahoma, whose attitude toward the Millers was "very vicious," he said. The senator told him he "didn't want those boys to get away with all those oil lands down there," McGraw said.

The witness said he had told Senator Harold there was "no oil on the lands" and that later Harold went with him to see Daugherty and withdrew any statement he had made to Daugherty indicating that the case involved oil lands. He quoted Harold as saying: "I am sorry for any misrepresentation I may have made to you, Mr. Attorney General, and any disposition you make of the case will be satisfactory to me."

The Millers never "contributed a dollar," McGraw said, to any of his election expenses in Oklahoma. He was defeated for re-election as national committeeman by the late Jake Hampton. He said he had "never heard" stories of extraordinary expenditures by Hampton in the Harding campaign until they came up before senate investigating committees. He doubted these stories because, he said, Hampton was in "financial straits" at the time of his death, five months after the Chicago convention.

McGraw denied specifically that he had ever given E. W. Jacobs or W. A. Brown any money to "distribute" or that he had raised "any money" for the Harding campaign. As to the republican committee deficit, he said, "it was never suggested" that he raise funds, although he might have contributed personally.

"I never brought a dollar to Washington in campaign funds," McGraw said, "and I never talked with Attorney General Daugherty about the deficit."

Senator Jones, republican, Washington, asked if McGraw "had a special mission to see Daugherty" on the Miller case, and the witness said he "might" have told the Millers he would "see Daugherty" while in Washington. He added he "could not swear under oath" that the Millers had ever asked to see the attorney general.

All of his conferences with Daugherty had to do with the criminal cases, McGraw said.

B. & M. IN NEW UNION LABOR AGREEMENT

Settlement of labor disputes "within the family" may bring a new era to some railroad corporation methods of management in the future, when working conditions and problems of employment come up for discussion between employers and employees.

The Boston & Maine railroad corporation has entered into an important working agreement with several of the largest railroad union brotherhoods, for the purpose of amicably handling and adjusting all grievances and disputes which may arise in the future between themselves and without reference to any outside agencies. The Sun is informed today.

Interviews with some of the leading members of railway unions with branches located in Lowell, including the clerks, freight-handlers, express and station employees, reveals the information, that while not every brotherhood local in the leucity it & M. list and involving railroad employees of all callings in the working organization, have joined formally in the agreement made with several organizations leading the way, several locals have endorsed the idea and taken it up with considerable enthusiasm. Members are confident that it will work out well in future labor disputes with the railroad corporation, should disputes arise that call for friendly debate.

Clerks in Agreement

At the Boston & Maine freight offices on Thordike street, where members of the brotherhood are numerous, The Sun was told by a union representative that everything had been agreed upon as reported. Some members of the Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees' unions, which organizations have heretofore worked separately in wage adjustment campaigns for the benefit of the individual branches, said today that in the future there will be a solid line-up of all workers in the categories named, in order to make the new plan work out to the best interests of those who toil for the Boston & Maine railroad at all points on the New England system.

The announcement that comes to The Sun and taken from an official report, states that the Boston & Maine management has entered into an agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees "for the purpose of handling grievances and disputes which may arise between themselves and without reference to any outside agency."

Board of Adjustment

A board of adjustment has been created to be composed of an equal number from the railroad management and the labor organization personnel, to serve for a period of one year. It is mutually agreed that decisions rendered by this board shall be binding upon both parties and not subject to appeal to any other tribunal, except that when it is found impossible to come to a satisfactory agreement, this board itself may submit any matter to the United States railroad labor board or to any other arbitrator mutually agreed upon.

Matters are not taken up with the board of adjustment unless decisions given by the Boston & Maine railroad management are not found satisfactory to the labor organization, in which case they may be appealed to the board. The Sun is informed that the whole plan is to facilitate settlement of labor disputes "within the family." It is intended also, according to Boston & Maine directors, to "make the efforts of labor agitators to foment discord more difficult and actually lessen the opportunities for disturbance." Naturally, the directors of the railroad as well as the employees themselves entering the friendly agreement on what appears today from the outside, at least, to be an interesting departure, with both parties working in entire harmony thus far on a brand new road that has possibilities.

CITY FATHERS VISIT GRAVE OF NOTABLE

While en route to the Isolation hospital yesterday to conduct a part of the investigation of that institution now underway, members of the council investigating committee staved off the possibility of settling a councilmanic precedent, that of arriving ahead of time, by stopping in a cemetery.

While it is rather the usual thing for mortals to visit a hospital first and then a cemetery, Counselor J. Joseph Hennessey reversed the procedure for this special occasion. He took the members into the Woodbine cemetery, near the hospital where they gazed upon many of the old tombstones and read the inscriptions thereon.

Chief in interest was the marker over the grave of Marie Louis Amand Anseart du Marquelles, colonel under Lafayette, who came here to aid his distinguished fellow countryman at the outset of the American revolution. The stone records that he came here in 1778 and was immediately commissioned a colonel of artillery and made master of the foundries turning out the big guns of those days. He died in 1804 at the age of 62. The grave is appropriately marked by the Sons of the American Revolution and like all those about it shows the results of tender care.

TRIPLER LAMBS AT COLLINSVILLE FARM

Collinsville appears on the front page again today, this time with the tidings that Robert C. Mills is the proud possessor of tripler lambs, born late last week on the Mills farm where lambs have been frolicking for some time past. The mother of the tripler is of the Damboult breed and is two years old.

The English channel is more salty a winter than in summer.

FIREMEN'S WAGE QUESTION

Selectman Andrew P. Sousa has submitted a minority report on the recent firemen's wage question, as Bitterton voters may thoroughly understand the matter, he says. He declares that wages should be increased and explains why he favors it in a lengthy letter addressed to the Bitterton board of selectmen and intended for public discussion. He intimates that the reason for Selectman Sheridan's opposition to the wage increase is not clear. It is understood that Messrs. Sheridan and Buck, the two other members of the board of selectmen, do not favor the increase under debate, because Bitterton firemen "are already pretty well paid as it is," as Mr. Sheridan puts it in a rejoinder to the Sousa letter.

JOHNNY SHEPPARD WINS DECISION OVER DANNY EDWARDS

Former Lowell Boy Takes Another Step Toward Championship by Beating Californian Champ—Andrews Defeats Gray—Jimmy Gardner at Bouts

Johnny Sheppard of Woburn, scored his second victory of the week and advanced another step toward championship honors when he won a clean-cut victory over Danny Edwards, colored, bantam champion, in the main bout of the Moody club show at the present rink last night.

A good sized crowd turned out to see the bout and the three present were delegations from Woburn, Lawrence and Nashua. The Sheppard-Edwards event was labeled a big city number and it proved a lundsticker. Edwards weighed 124 and Sheppard 122. After Referee Joe O'Connor of Boston had called the little fellows to the center for instructions the bout got underway. It started off at a steady clip, with Edwards jumping into the lead. He carried the fight to Sheppard and uncovered a whiplash attack. Sheppard countered well but remained on the defensive throughout the round to get a line on his opponent.

After the first session Sheppard had solved the colored boy's tactics and from then on the former Lowell boy went to the front. He gave Edwards no quarter, taking advantage of every opening, and planting stiff jolts in the Californian's head and body.

But Edwards fought back cleverly and his skill and generalship brought him through many dangerous moments. Sheppard put everything into his blows, and while he scored heavy socks, he missed a number because of the speed of the crafty colored lad.

The bout proved an interesting demonstration of a boxer against a fighter. Edwards portrayed the boxer and he proved a master in the art. Sheppard was the aggressive fighter, tearing in and keeping busy all the while. To miss a blow meant nothing to Sheppard. He only lunged forward again and again, and he subjected Edwards to considerable body punishment. The Californian hit the Woburnite low on several occasions, but the blows were unintentional and did no damage.

The bout finished up with both boys traveling at whirlwind speed, and out Sheppard deserved the decision awarded him. Edwards gave him a fine tussle. Hence both left the ring amid vigorous applause.

Andrews, of Boston, making his debut as a semi-finalist, met Johnny Gray of Nashua, and the Bostonian continued his classy work. He's a youngster, but he seems to improve with every appearance. He met a tartar in Gray and a slashing battle ensued. It was fairly even in the early stages, but Andrews forged his way to the front. In the seventh round Andrews sent Gray to the mat for a count of nine. Gray got up and hung on till the bell. In the eighth Gray cut out of his corner fighting. Andrews met him at his own game. A terrific three-minute session followed with Andrews having the edge.

Hains Cronin of Lawrence joined the list of one round kayo artists by stopping Young's place in the outfield and smacked two hits. Meusel and Southworth hit home runs with two men on base. Kelly and Groh are expected to be in the lineup Saturday.

After the Roanoke game was cancelled, the ranks of the Braves began to crumble and several men dashed off to New York where the two teams start a two-game series Saturday. Manager Higgins of the Yankees left for home after announcing that Bernice Thompson, Georgia Tech youngster, would go to the Winston-Salem club of the Piedmont league. He also denied a rumored intention to liberally break Everett Scott's consecutive game record, which now totals 1128.

A sad note entered the Yankee camp when George Pipiras, relief pitcher last year, was called to his home at Dayton, Minn., by the death of his mother.

Stirling to Meet Quinn
APPLETON, Wis., April 11.—Young Stirling, the Georgia schoolboy, meets Gunner Joe Quinn of Minneapolis here tonight in a 10-round no-decision bout. Stirling is expected to win, but the Minneapolis man is tough, and has a heavy punch.

Delaney Beats Robinson
BOSTON, April 11.—Jack Delaney of Bridgeport barely captured the only a youngster, but he seems to improve with every appearance. He met a tartar in Gray and a slashing battle ensued. It was fairly even in the early stages, but Andrews forged his way to the front. In the seventh round Andrews sent Gray to the mat for a count of nine. Gray got up and hung on till the bell. Braves Cut Squad and Send Four Players to Worcester

Ike Kamp Among Quartet Released to Eastern League Team—Pitcher Dean, Purchased by McGraw for $50,000, Twirled Giants to Victory Over White Sox

BOSTON, April 11.—Two rookie hurlers, an infielder and an outfielder are on their way today to the Worcester club of the Eastern league, as the result of a cut in the Boston National League club. The four players are: Pitcher Kyle Graham, drafted from the Little Rock, Ark., club; Hunter Lane, late of the Knoxville, Tenn., club; an infielder, Roy Knicker, and an outfielder, with Worcester last year, and Ike Kamp of Boston.

A red, white and blue season pass to Braves field, will be mailed to President Coolidge, by the Braves management before the squad reaches the north. Secretary Eddie Riley said yesterday. Rain prevented the playing of the Braves-Washington game yesterday.

At Louisville, Ky., yesterday, the Boston Americans came from behind when the Louisville American association club was leading 6 to 0, and won 8 to 6. Curtis Fullerton, on the mound in the last four frames, allowed the Colonials one hit and no runs. Dudley Lee, young sloop, continued his good work, handling six chances without error and driving in two runs with two singles.

$50,000 Buys Some Pitcher
NEW YORK, April 10.—Wayland Dean, purchased by John McGraw from Louisville for $50,000, demonstrated his ability to pitch his longball ball yesterday by holding the Chicago White Sox to three hits and one run in five innings of the Giant 14-3 victory at Terre Haute, Ind. The Yankees and Robins loafed at Roanoke because of rain.

Hains Cronin, with a lame back, joined George Kelly on the disabled roster and McGraw presented an improvised infield with Bill Terry at first base, Ross third and Jackson at shortstop. French appeared out of gear, but Young and Terry, the latter with two more hits, worked smoothly. Jimmy O'Connell look Young's place in the outfield and smacked two hits. Meusel and Southworth hit home runs with two men on base. Kelly and Groh are expected to be in the lineup Saturday.

Tigers and Reds in Last Game
DETROIT, April 11.—The Detroit Americans and the Cincinnati Nationals are scheduled to play the last game of their season exhibition series at Knoxville, Tenn., today. By winning today's game, Detroit can break even on the series. This prevented yesterday's game at Cleveland, Tenn.

Chance Reaches Chicago
CHICAGO, April 11.—Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago Americans comes to Chicago today after a battle against ill health which delayed his departure from the spring training quarters. He will take charge of the club on its arrival here with the New York Giants tomorrow.

The White Sox and Atlanta renew hostilities today at Indianapolis. Elmer Jacobs, Seattle recruit, passed five men and allowed three hits good for six runs, before he was chased from the hill in the first inning of the Chicago game.

TEXTILE TEAM TO MEET PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

Lowell Textile's baseball team will engage in its second varsity struggle on the Textile campus when it meets Providence college tomorrow. The Rhode Islanders are a snappy outfit and seem to have the Indian sign on the Red and Gray on their faces. They have two baseball victories and one football win to their credit over the Engineers.

Coch "Holt" Gantley gave his men a real stiff workout on the campus this afternoon. He is elated with the team's success in the opening encounter against Boston university last Wednesday, and looks forward to a prosperous season.

Pirates Change Line-up
PITTSBURGH, April 11.—When the Pittsburgh Pirates line up against the Memphis team of the Southern association in an exhibition game at Memphis today, it will be with a radically changed batting order, according to word reaching here. Maranville will bat first with Carey, Higbee, Traynor, Barnhart, Wright, Grimm, catcher and pitcher following in order named. Maranville supplants Bigbee as lead-off man, and Traynor becomes clean-up hitter in place of Barnhart.

Capt. Max Carey was on his way today to consult a specialist in Youngstown, Ohio, about a sore arm. He will rejoin the team in Louisville, Sunday. Hazen Cuyler, a regular in the lineup, conferred with the veteran is able to take his place again. Yesterday's game with Memphis was cancelled because of rain.

St. Louis Tennis Win
ST. LOUIS, April 11.—Looking to the clash with the Cardinals Saturday, the St. Louis Browns found their batting eyes yesterday, humbling the Tulsa, Okla., Oilers 5 to 2, thereby reversing their defeat of Wednesday. Thirteen hits, including five two sackers, represented the Browns' attack, paced by Robertson, Williams and the now indefatigable Slater. The Browns bid farewell to Dixie last night with 14 victories and three defeats as their exhibition record against six class A minor league clubs.

As for the Cardinals, they ended their stay in the south by an 8-2 victory over the Nashville (Tenn.) Volunteers. Jack Smith led the Cards offense with two doubles, while Howard Frickey came through with a triple and single. Just nine men faced Pitcher Allan Sathorn for the first three innings he held the mound. Rickerman will arrive in St. Louis today to rest up for the opening of the city series with the Browns.

Indians at Tuscaloosa
CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 11.—The Cleveland Indians were at Tuscaloosa today for an exhibition game with the University of Alabama, from which three of their regulars, Shortstop Joe Sewell, Second Baseman Riggs Stephenson and Pitcher Luke Sewell, graduated. Gus Glanton, another native, is slated to pitch part of the game.

RAIN PREVENTS GAME
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Rain prevented the scheduled barnstorming exhibition game between the Boston Braves and Washington Senators at Atlanta, yesterday but both teams were at Spartanburg, S. C., today for their final road engagement of the pre-season series. They are to continue hostilities, however, in Washington where the first of two games will be played tomorrow, winding up the exhibition series.

writers—look up Tommy Dixon, honor student at Kansas university.

Dixon for years was considered one of the toughest pugilists of the middle west. He would fight anybody and anything from a mosquito to a buzz saw. For several seasons he was a member of a pugilistic "stable" under the management of Jimmy Hurst of Kansas City.

When Dixon drifted past the state of being the best of his class he obtained employment as instructor in boxing at Kansas university.

Association with students and teachers fired him with ambition and he began to look into the advantages of having a bit of "book learnin'."

During hours off duty Dixon delved into text books and prepared himself for the university examinations. These he passed with flying colors, and now he is carrying a regular 15-hour course in the school.

"Just tell the folks I am making good as a university man," he said recently. "I expect to have a lot of knowledge of something else besides fighting some of these days."

NATIONAL MAY ADOPT SYSTEM OF AMERICAN

By N.E.A. Service
CHICAGO, April 11.—Some years ago at the suggestion of President Ben Johnson, the American league adopted a rule forbidding clubs of his league to play a series of games with each other prior to the opening of the season.

President Johnson urged the adoption of the rule because he felt these games took considerable away from the opening of the season.

The American league head also insisted that if some club in the same league was soundly trounced by other clubs in the spring games, the fans at home would give up hope before the bell rang.

The National league at the time ridiculed the idea and insisted no harm came from the inter-league games.

President Johnson liked the idea of American league teams playing National league clubs, since such games afforded real competition and often proved profitable financially without any reaction resulting.

After several years of trial, the National league seems to have come around to President Johnson's way of thinking. On the best authority it is stated these games will be greatly curtailed if not discontinued entirely next spring.

HOPPE RETAINS BILLIARD TITLE

NEW YORK, April 11.—Willie Hoppe's title of world's 13.2 ball billiard champion will not be endangered again until the annual championship tournament in the fall. The veteran last night exhausted his eligible challengers by defeating Edouard Floreman of Belgium, 1909 to 1958, although the latter won the final block, 518 to 500.

The Belgian displayed his best billiards of the match, in the final block after Hoppe, with an opening run of 224 increased the score to 402 to 53 and threatened to repeat his overwhelming victory of the second block.

Hoppe first won the championship in 1908, but resigned it in the same year. He won it again in 1910 and has had an unbroken tenure since that time with the exception of 1921, when Jake Schaefer, after tying Hoppe in the tournament won the playoff.

$3,000,000 LOAN TO G. O. P. LEADER

Senate Oil Committee Seeks Information About Loan to Wm. Boyce Thompson

Attorney for Thompson Says Client Too Ill to Appear—Answers Questions

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Returning to its inquiry into possible oil company contributions to national political campaign funds, the senate oil committee today sought information about a $3,000,000 loan made by the Chase National bank in New York in 1919, to William Boyce Thompson, formerly chairman of the ways and means committee of the republican committee.

Declaring his client was too ill to appear, William Wallace, Jr., attorney for Thompson, testified that the $3,000,000 loan was secured by 50,154 shares of Sinclair Oil stock, but insisted it had nothing to do with the campaign funds. He said Thompson had no part in republican financing until after the 1920 campaign and that the Chase bank loan was repaid in full in 1919.

The lawyer also read into the record a telegram from Thompson, who has been sought by committee subpoena servers for more than two weeks, saying he had been "wholly out of the Sinclair interests since 1921." Thompson was said to have failed to respond to the committee summons because he is ill in an Arizona sanatorium.

Appearing voluntarily and speaking for his client, Wallace also denied that Thompson had borrowed large sums to wipe out the republican national committee deficit after 1920.

Wallace later testified that Thompson had retained in Sinclair stock in 1922, buying 460 shares on Jan. 13, and 1972 shares on Feb. 23 and selling the entire lot in April, 1923. This was the month in which Albert B. Fall leased the Teapot Dome naval oil reserves to Sinclair. The witness was unable to give the exact day of the sale.

Reading from records, he affirmed that Thompson resigned as a director of the Sinclair companies in 1921. He testified that Thompson never had any connection with the Mammoth Oil Co., organized to operate Teapot Dome, but he disclosed that after disassociating himself from the Sinclair companies, he invested in the Mutual Oil Co., which was put off Teapot Dome by marines in 1922. Thompson still has a holding interest in that company, the witness said.

The committee then called E. J. Costello, a Chicago newspaper man once employed by the late Jake Hanson, republican national committee man from Oklahoma, as publicity agent. The witness explained that his services for Hanson were performed in 1917. He said he met Hanson at the Chicago convention and was told "it was all fixed" that Harding was to be nominated, that "Gov. be vice president" and that "Fall was to be a member of the cabinet."

"Did he tell you what position Fall was to have?" asked Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor.

"No."

"What was Hamon to get out of this?"

"He said he would be taken care of."

Costello said this conversation took place "about ten hours before Harding was nominated."

James Sloan, formerly attached to the White House staff, and for a time afterward manager of the Washington brokerage office of Underleider & Co., testified about a visit to Oklahoma during the 1920 campaign where he attended a dinner at which Hamon, Brig. Gen. G. E. Sawyer, R. B. Croger, republican national committeeman from Texas, and others were present.

Sloan also told of the visit of the Harding party to Point Isabel, Tex., after their trip south. He testified that after ten trip south he was employed by the republican national committee at a salary of $750 a month. From that position, he said, he was made manager of the Washington branch of Underleider Co.

"While you were engaged in the brokerage business, did you do any business with public offices?" asked Senator Walsh.

"Only what the books show."

Senator Walsh took the examination back to Sloan's employment by the republican national committee. The witness said he first had been employed just before the republican convention at Chicago. He arrived in Chicago on the day of the nomination, he said, and learned from a newspaperman that morning that Harding was to be nominated during the day.

"Did you place any bets on the result?" asked Senator Walsh.

"No," Sloan said.

He was excused and the committee adjourned until Monday.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 14

In almost no time Jack felt himself dropping through the air. "Better slow down before we come to the ground," he shouted, "or I will hurt my feet when I land." "Don't worry," replied the tube, "I'll land you safe and sound." And Jack then felt the dropping grow more slow.

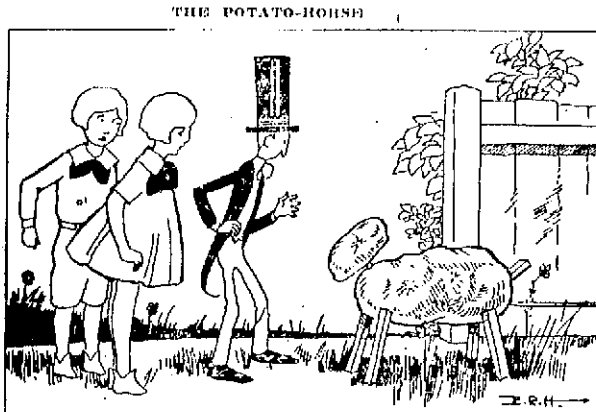

Jack gazed around him, as he realized his hands were getting tired from hanging on to the tube. He was afraid he might have to let go. But in a few moments the tube started passing free tops on its way to the ground. Then suddenly Jack felt his feet touch the earth again.

"Well, here we are," said the tube. And when Flip leaped to the ground the tube flopped over flat and said, "I'm tired and am going to take a rest." "Where are we now?" questioned Jack. "Ho, ha," laughed the tube. "Don't you know? Why, we're in the Land of Rubber." (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud, is it?"

Along the road of Deafunny Land skinned Nancy and Nick and Mister Fuzz Wuzz singing:

"We're so happy and so gay
We could throw ourselves away.
But we'd come back in a hurry,
So you really needn't worry."
"What's that? What's that?" cried a voice beside them. A very sour voice!

"We were just saying," said Nick, "that we were very happy."

"But you've gone and spoiled it all!" declared Nancy. "Nobody can be happy with someone like you growling at them in a voice like that."

"I should say not!" remarked Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "Who are you, anyway? Why don't you come out and let us have a look?"

"Because I can't see! I'm blind and here I stay I suppose for the rest of my days. It makes me nervous to hear people yelling that they are so happy and so gay."

"Stupid! Stupid and nonsense! Who wants you to be happy? But it does seem too bad that I who had a dozen eyes, can't see a thing any more."

"If you can't come to us, we shall go to you," declared Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "I don't like anybody in Deafunny Land to be unhappy."

And whom do you think they found? The potato-horse—the proud steed with match legs and broom-straw tail!

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud,"

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud, is it?"

TROOPS ARE IN CONTROL

Two Army Tanks Occupy
Positions Near Mine at
Pineville, Ky.

Scene of Week's Warfare
Between Soldiers and Men
Who Sought to Close Mine

PINEVILLE, Ky., April 11.—Two army tanks from Covington today were occupying commanding positions on the property of the Liberty Coal & Coke Co., at Straight Creek, the scene of a week's warfare between soldiers and persons who would prevent operation of the mine.

One of the tanks is atop a large pile of slate where the gunners within command a full sweep of the country. To the right of the tank is the spot where a miner was slain last week and within easy range is the densely wooded stretch of mountain which had concealed marksmen who intermittently have been firing into the village. Hereafter guardsmen were exposed to the direct fire, while standing beside their posts at machine guns. With the tanks in position, however, the guardsmen can sit within safety and command the situation. The tank is equipped with one-pounders and shrapnel can be scattered into any point on the mountain with great accuracy, according to Maj. J. K. Dillon.

The other tank took up a position in the camp where it can be brought into immediate action in the event of an attack.

The camp was quiet today.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Vesper Country Club Holds
Annual Meeting — Report
on New Club House

The annual business meeting of the Vesper Country club was held last night in Middlesex hall for the purpose of hearing annual reports and electing four directors. The reports submitted were those of Treasurer Arthur J. Murkland and Secretary Andrew G. Swapp.

Directors chosen were Harry G. Pollard, Thomas Southam and George Runnels for three years, and Harvey W.

HARRY G. POLLARD
President

Barbell for two years. After the meeting the directors elected officers as follows: President, Harry G. Pollard; vice presidents, Hon. John C. Leggett and Albert D. Milliken; treasurer, Arthur J. Murkland; secretary, Andrew G. Swapp.

Featured in the splendid report of Secretary Swapp was the announcement that the new clubhouse which takes the place of the one burned early last year, will be ready for occupancy on June 1. The contractor at present is one week ahead of his schedule and unless something unforeseen occurs nothing will prevent the formal opening on that date.

Prospects of a most successful and busy season at Vesper are bright. It is felt that interest in club activities will greatly increase with the opening of the new house and the organization will be able to expand its program of events as never before. The new house will have double the accommodations of the old one.

SEEDY INDIVIDUAL CALLS ON THE MAJOR

ON YOUR TOES BOYS FOR TONIGHT'S MEETING

"Br-r-r, Br-r-r, outside, everybody." Few ex-service men but remember the shrill whistle and the stentorian tones that greeted them every so often when they first arrived as a rookie. Morning, noon and night the old whistle would shrill out and a formation would be in order.

Commander Colin C. Macdonald of Lowell Post, 81, American Legion, has sounded the whistle for a meeting tonight of all team captains and workers in the membership raid. Just as a whistle meant in the old days it signifies today that there is work to be done and enough of it to go all the way round.

All Legionnaires that are out to increase the strength of their post are asked to turn out tonight. Former members with the whereabouts to renew are invited to get in line.

GUEST OF LOCAL KNIGHTS

State Deputy Prout of Boston
Pays First Visit to Knights' New Home

William C. Prout of Boston, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, paid his first visit to the new home of the local knights in Dutton street last evening and was enthusiastically received by a gathering of members which filled the spacious and beautiful assembly hall.

The affair was in the nature of a reception to the popular state deputy and proved a success from every angle. A chicken supper was served by Caterer Lydon shortly before 7 o'clock, and this was followed by a pleasant program of speaking and entertainment. Charles P. Miner and Thomas J. Dowd were at the piano during the banquet and interspersed melodious strains between courses.

Grand Knight Frank A. Graves was in the chair when the festivities began, and after welcoming the members, he turned the meeting over to Lecturer Edward F. Slattery, Jr. Besides the grand knight and the lecturer, there were seated at the main table, State Deputy Prout, Chaplain Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, Louis Watson, master of the Fourth Degree in Cabot province, Deputy Grand Knight John J. Flannery, John V. Donoghue, faithful navigator of Bishop Delany assembly, Fourth Degree, Peter Farrington, secretary of committee in charge, Hon. James B. Casey and Irving Libby, members of the reception committee.

In glowing terms, Lecturer Slattery introduced the main speaker of the evening, Mr. Prout. In his introductory remarks, the toastmaster recalled the days when the state deputy was winning athletic laurels as a respected member of the Boston Athletic association relay team, when the sporting world knew him as "Billy" Prout. A few years later, the toastmaster said, he was reading in the newspapers that William C. Prout had been made president of the Amateur Athletic union, which position he now holds.

The guest of the evening was roundly applauded when he arose to speak, and said that it was with conflicting emotions that he gazed on his audience after such a wonderful introduction. He congratulated Lowell council on its new home and the rejuvenated spirit of the members. In a practical way, he told many inside stories of the great work that is being accomplished by the Amateur Athletic union in the way of encouraging participation in athletics, the money, but for "love of the game."

He also referred to the athletic endeavors of the Knights of Columbus, laying special emphasis on the new playground sponsored by the organization and dedicated in Rome, Italy, a few days ago. He stressed, too, the charitable character of the Knights of Columbus, the several donations to institutions throughout the country, and the efforts that are being made to maintain the high standard of the order in the business and commercial life of the world. Deputy Prout's wide range of knowledge on practically every subject found willing listeners in the knights' audience, and when he concluded he was greeted with three cheers and a tiger.

Louis Watson, master of the Fourth Degree in Cabot province, followed Deputy Prout, and gave a vivid description of the aims and aspirations of the Fourth Degree. He urged every member of Lowell council to avail himself of the opportunity to participate in the big exemplification scheduled to take place in the Memorial Auditorium on May 4 next, saying that Lowell was specially honored in being granted the privilege of holding the degree here.

Master Watson said he is allowed the privilege of conducting two exemplifications at the state each year. As a general rule, one of them is held in Boston and the other in the western part of the state. A precedent is about to be established, therefore, he said, in holding the affair this year in Lowell.

The third and final speaker of the evening was Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, energetic chaplain of Lowell council. In his customary forthright and convincing manner, Fr. Heffernan called for a continuance of the high and lofty ideals that have made their impress on America through the K. of C. He also made eloquent reference to the Fourth Degree exemplification, its splendid ritual and its patriotic appeal, and said he only wished that all citizens would use the magnificent exemplification of the Fourth Degree in May.

Vocal numbers during the evening were given by Joseph D. Lannan and John O'Brien, Jr. The meeting was brought to a close with the entire assembly singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

GOV. COX MAKES LEGION APPEAL

State's Chief Executive Urges
Veterans to Look at Promising Future

Legion "Strong Guaranty of Virile and Loyal Citizenship," He Says

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, April 11.—Unqualified endorsement of the American Legion and a strong appeal to ex-service men of Massachusetts to "take on" for another year with that organization is contained in a statement prepared and issued today by Gov. Cox.

GOV. CHANNING H. COX

The statement follows:
"The Massachusetts department of the American Legion is making an earnest and concerted endeavor to increase its membership, and seeks the aid of our citizens generally in accomplishing that commendable result."

"The Grand Army of the Republic and the United Spanish War Veterans have been mighty forces in arousing and sustaining patriotism. When the splendid work which these organizations have done for better citizenship is reviewed a vision is unfolded of what the American Legion may mean in the future. Men who have served their country in war have always continued their service in times of peace, and have been stalwart defenders of our institutions against attack from within."

"The American Legion under wise and patriotic leadership, with a supporting large membership, is a strong guaranty of a virile and loyal citizenship. If this organization is to be of largest service, then it must be strong in membership."

"In the whole country only about 5 million have the right to seek membership in the Legion. That right has been won by devoted service to the country during its time of greatest need. Membership in the American Legion gives a man a distinction which no material success can confer."

"All good citizens have a direct interest in strengthening the Legion. They have a chance to help themselves and to insure the permanence of all that they hold dear by aiding the Legion in adding to its membership."

"The Legion has asked the general public for aid. Let us demonstrate that we appreciate the response which these men made to their country, and now answer their call and do whatever is possible for them. In our endeavor to aid in this direction, we shall surely find that we are serving our country."
